PREPARING THE ULTIMATUM.

President and Cabinet Fixing the Time to Be Given Spain for the Evacuation of Cuba.

The Demand May Be That the Spanish Army and Navy Shall Be Withdrawn Within 48 or Possibly 24 Hours.

The Resolutions Passed by Congress Are in McKinley's Hands and Will Be Signed When His Signature Is Affixed to the Ultimatum.

SPAIN'S QUEEN AND CABINET PREPARED TO MEET THE ISSUE.

The Spanish Nation Prefers the Risks of War to the Humiliation of Surrendering Cuba Upon Demands of the United States.

WASHINGTON, April 19, 3:30 p. m.—The Cabinet is in council with the President.

They are preparing the terms of the ultimatum to Spain. It was drafted by Judge Day and Judge Edmunds and will be agreed upon definitely this afternoon.

The President has announced that he will faithfully execute the will of Congress, and it is said that his manifesto will be in the most forceful diplomatic language.

From what can be learned the ultimatum will be sent direct to Minister Woodford, who will present it to Spain.

The ultimatum will contain a clause demanding that Spain remove her land and naval forces from the island at once. Only a comparatively few hours will be given Spain in which to either accede to or deny the demand.

The first steps to follow the ultimatum are also under consideration.

MADRID, April 19, 4:15 p. m.—Spain has sent a note to her Ambassadors, outlining her grievances, and holding the United States responsible for war.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The war resolution will not be signed by the President until the ultimatum to Spain is prepared for signature. The two will be made practically one act and signed simultaneously.

The President favors giving Spain two or three days to comply with the ultimatum, as that time must elapse before our forces would be ready to move on a Cuban port.

Every one connected with the Administration realizes that war is to be expected as the result of our ultimatum and from this time forth the President and the members of his Cabinet, it is said, will act as a unit in the execution of a most vigorous policy.

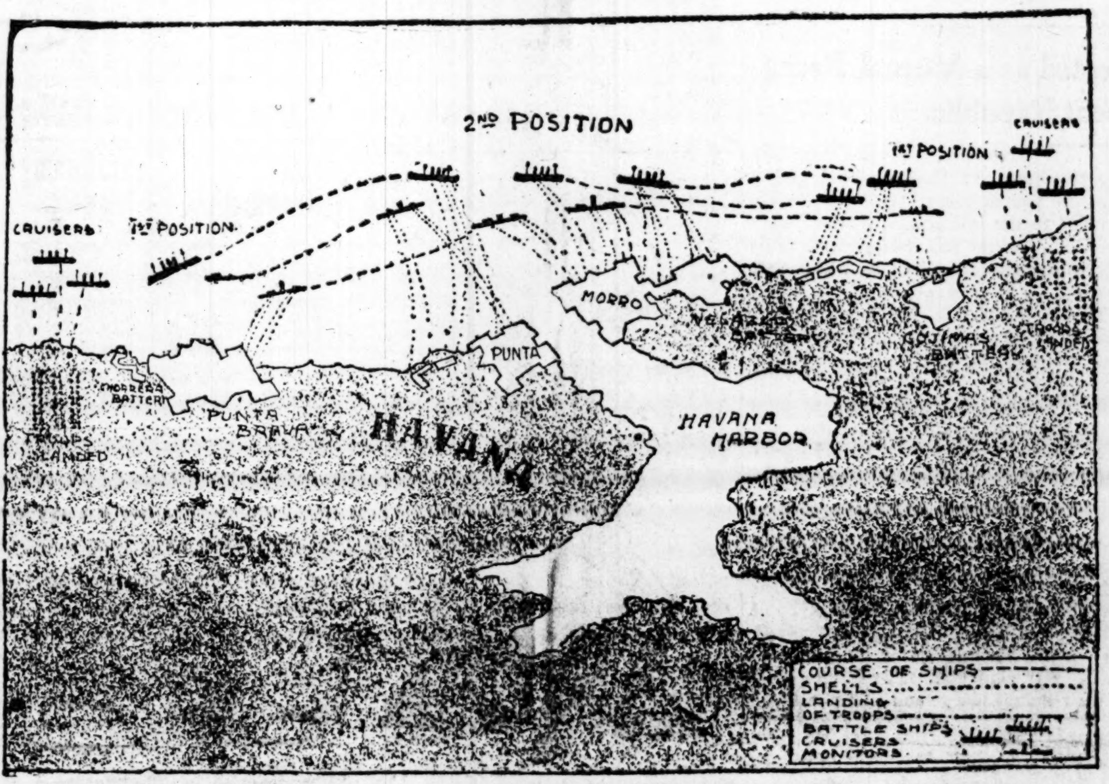
The war resolutions have been signed by Speaker Reed and Vice-President Hobart and are in the possession of the President.

The Cabinet was in session about an hour and a half. At 12:30 an adjournment was taken until 3:30, after a decision was reached to prepare an ultimatum to Spain, the ultimatum and the Cuban resolutions to be signed simultaneously. Soon after the session closed the President and Secretary Bliss took a walk through the White House grounds. Although the official copy of the joint resolution was not before the meeting a copy as it appeared in the Congressional Record was read and discussed. There was a difference of opinion as to the length of time that should be given to the Spaniards in which to reply to our peremptory demands for an evacuation of the Island of Cuba. One or two members thought 24 would be sufficient, while a number of others suggested 48 hours. The President, however, was of the opinion that we would not be in a position immediately to enforce our demands even at the end of 48 hours and in view of that fact he thought that at least three days would not be too long a time to permit Spain to have for a decision.

It was not with a view to giving Spain any particular consideration that he favored a long [illegible], but in his opinion it would [illegible] time to put our [illegible] naval forces in position to strike a decisive blow. The complex wording of the resolution, it is said, will make it a matter of some difficulty to frame an ultimatum that will cover the points of the resolution in a satisfactory manner and it may be late to-night before a satisfactory document can be decided upon.

As the Cortes meets to-morrow it is probable that the ultimatum will be sent in time to be placed before that body on its assembling. It is not thought, however, that an effort will be made to have it reach Madrid at any particular time.

The resolution was brought to the White House in charge of Representative Hager of Iowa, who was accompanied by Representative Overstreet of Indiana. The resolution was taken into Secretary Porter's office and thence to the President. The President did not sign the bill in the presence of the bearers, as they hoped he would do. When informed that the House had adjourned until to-morrow at noon, Mr. McKinley said that being the case he would not have an opportunity to announce his action before that time.



CAPT. SAMPSON'S PLAN OF ATTACK ON HAVANA.

Capt. Sampson's plan of attack is shown in the above diagram. The first positions show the cruisers landing marines for an attack in force by land while the battleships are reducing the fortifications adjacent to Havana by bombardment. The second position shows the battleships and cruisers in combined attack on the fortifications that guard the entrance to Havana harbor.

THE ACT OF CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 19.—The resolutions as finally agreed to and passed by the Senate and House follow:

Whereas, The abhorrent conditions which have existed for more than three years in the Island of Cuba, so near to our own borders, have shocked the moral sense of the people of the United States, have been a disgrace to Christian civilization, culminating as they have, in the destruction of a United States battleship, with 266 officers and crew, while on a friendly visit to the harbor of Havana, and cannot longer be endured, as has been set forth by the President of the United States in his message to Congress of April 11, 1898, upon which the action of Congress was invited, therefore,

Resolved, First, that the people of the Island of Cuba are and of right ought to be free and independent.

2. That it is the duty of the United States to demand and the Government of THE UNITED STATES DOES HEREBY DEMAND THAT THE GOVERNMENT OF SPAIN AT ONCE RELINQUISH ITS AUTHORITY AND GOVERNMENT IN THE ISLAND OF CUBA AND WITHDRAW ITS LAND AND NAVAL FORCES from Cuba and Cuban waters.

3. That the President of the United States be, and he hereby is DIRECTED and empowered, to use the entire land and naval forces of the United States and to call into actual service of the United States the militia of the several States, to such an extent as may be necessary to carry these resolutions into effect.

4. That the United States hereby disclaims any intention to exercise sovereignty, jurisdiction or control over said island, except for the pacification thereof, and asserts its determination when that is accomplished to leave the Government and control of the island to its people.

POLO IS ON THE EVE OF DEPARTURE FOR MADRID.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Spanish Minister Polo will begin his departure from the United States as soon as notified the Cuban resolutions are a law.

POLICEMEN GUARD PRESIDENT M'KINLEY.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Extraordinary precautions are being taken to assure the personal safety of President McKinley. The detail of policemen at the Executive Mansion has been trebled, and two sergeants and a police lieutenant have been added. In the event of war it is believed that the police officers will be removed and a guard from the regular army substituted. This was done during the civil war.

Five men are stationed in the rear of the Executive Mansion and two in front. They have orders not to be beyond call at any time.

The gates leading into the grounds have been overhauled and fitted with new locks. The east and west gates are locked every night at 8 o'clock, thus leaving the front gate the only means of ingress.

In addition to this detail of policemen two detectives are constantly on duty at the entrance and inside of the mansion. Four police officers are detailed inside of the White House who remain on duty all night. They are supposed to walk through all corridors in the office portion of the building at stated intervals and make reports to the sergeant.

FLYING SQUADRON PLANS CHANGED.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The movement of the flying squadron which was decided upon last week has been frustrated by the seeming unwillingness of the Danish Government to allow the Navy Department to use during hostilities the cable between St. Thomas and Washington. Assistant Secretary of State Day still has hopes that permission will be given, but it now looks doubtful. The plans of the Navy Department were to give orders to Commodore Schley just as soon as the war resolutions were ready to go to the President, to sail with his fleet for St. Thomas, renew the supply of coal used in its voyage across the Atlantic and remain there for striking orders. It has not been decided in the event of the Danish refusal where to order the squadron. It may be necessary for the fleet to remain at the Roads till hostilities or to go to Key West for orders.

ARMY OFFICER WOULD LEAD STATE TROOPS.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FRANKFORT, Ky., April 19.—Capt. John Allen of Lexington was here to-day and presented the request of L. T. Duncan, U. S. A., that he be placed in command of the Kentucky troops. Late companies have been mustered in the National Guard from Williamstown, Lebanon, Ashland, Somerset and a dozen towns have companies to muster in.

NOW FOR THE STARS AND STRIPES.

President's Signature of Senate and House Resolutions Is Virtually a Declaration of War.

The Post-Dispatch flag will be run out the moment the President signs the Senate and House resolutions for armed intervention.

Acting on the suggestion of the Post-Dispatch, Mayor Ziegenhein will cause guns to be fired, whistles blown and flags to be hoisted on the City Hall.

This is in accordance with the Mayor's proclamation issued on April 3. It reads:

To the Citizens of St. Louis:

In the event of war being declared between our country and Spain, every loyal and patriotic citizen of the United States in St. Louis should show his loyalty and patriotism by unfurling to the breezes the Stars and Stripes, the grandest flag the sun shines on.

From the moment that war is declared that flag will be in danger and it will be the duty of every citizen to fly to its defense. They should show forth their readiness to do so by displaying the nation's colors.

As Mayor of the city I hereby proclaim my desire that every citizen will provide himself with a flag and my hope that within an hour after the declaration of war Old Glory may wave from every housetop and decorate every house front in the city. HENRY ZIEGENHEIN, Mayor.

Have flags ready.
Blow whistles.
President McKinley's signature means war.

PROPOSE TO USE 200,000 MEN.

First Call for Volunteers, It Is Now Expected, Will Be for 60,000, Good and True.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Plans now being formulated in Congress involve the placing of about 200,000 soldiers, in round numbers, at the disposal of the Government within a very short time after the Cuban resolutions are approved by the President. This calculation is based on the following figures covered in plans already in effect or in contemplation, viz.:

Standing army, 27,000; by call for volunteers, 60,000; by calling out State militia, 75,000 or 100,000; by army reorganization bill, 5000, leaving aside the present regular army force. The second and fourth items are practically settled on in committee, while the third, as to State militia, is being actively canvassed, and while there are differing views, they are expected to crystallize into an authorization to call out the numbers stated.

The bill drawn up by the War Department for introduction by Representative Hill, chairman of the Military Committee, authorizes the President to call for something like 60,000 volunteers, to be drawn through the various States. While this method obviates the legal technicalities involved in the services of State militia organizations, it is likely the volunteers thus obtained through quotas furnished by the respective State and Territorial Governors will come from within State military ranks.

The House Committee on Militia plan to effectually put a large number of militia at the disposal of the President is being formulated. Some think 100,000 excessive, but Chairman Marsh and others regard the figure as conservative in the view that the intervention resolutions evidently mean war. The President, as suggested by Representative Marsh, can call out the militia at any time and Congress may follow up the Executive action by legislative enactment providing for their being mustered into the United States service.

At the same time, the army reorganization bill recently recommended by the House is being carefully pruned in the Military Affairs Committee to meet objections. It is proposed to extend the army organization to the three battalion war formation and to increase the batteries of artillery to 200 men each. This measure, it is claimed, may bring about 5000 more men into the regular service to be added to the present 27,000 regular troops.

GAVE A DEED TO A BLOCK.

School Board Now Desires to Have Its Error Corrected.

The Board of President and Directors of the St. Louis Public Schools has again come into court and entered a plea of guilty to having made blunders and asks the court to correct them.

Some time ago a suit was entered to compel Henry Ziegenhein, Collector, to give back certain fees he had been allowed by the School Board for collecting taxes. The board claimed to have misinterpreted the law and made the wrong allowances. Judge Talty decided against the board and the case went up on appeal.

Now they come in with a real estate transaction, dating clear back to 1891, when they sold to George W. Taussig, at public sale, some real estate in city blocks 1767 and 1775. They gave him a warranty deed in each case to the whole block when they in reality owned only lots from 1 to 18, inclusive. The sums paid were $3500 and $3800. Since then Taussig has deeded the property to Prentiss J. Batchelor, using in his deeds the same descriptions and terms as were used in the deeds to him from the School Board.

The board is afraid now that Batchelor will try to recover from the board for all the property deeded to him and which the board never owned. The court is asked to rectify the mistake and readjust the deeds so as to make them fit the property.

NO MORE TELFORD PAVEMENT.

Board of Public Improvements Enforces Its Rule.

No more Telford pavements will be constructed in St. Louis.

This point was practically settled at a meeting of the Board of Public Improvements Tuesday evening, when the application of Julius Pitzman was turned down by the board. Pitzman asked permission to construct a Telford pavement in front of his property on Palm street, between Spring and Prairie avenues. The board decided some time ago against pavements of such construction, and the treatment of Supervisor Pitzman's petition shows that the ruling will be enforced.

MONEY FOR THE ST. LOUIS SHIP FOR THE NAVAL RESERVES.

The people of St. Louis, responsive to the demands of patriotism, will have a ship of their own, bearing the name of this city and carrying the St. Louis Naval Reserves.

These facts are indicated by the success that is following the efforts of business and moneyed men to raise a fund for the purchase of the ship. Committees are at work throughout the city soliciting the money, and it is hoped that within a few days they will be able to make an announcement respecting the results.

All who have been asked to subscribe have responded promptly. What the movement needs is continued agitation and quick reply to the solicitations of the committees, so that the ship may be purchased while an opportunity is offered.

The Naval Reserves are ready; the ship is ready; the people are prepared to assist. Now let the money be forthcoming quickly and St. Louis will be at the front, as usual—first in war, even as it is first in peace.

THE CUBANS ARE GRATEFUL.

Intervention Resolutions Accepted as a Virtual Recognition of the Present Republic.

NEW YORK, April 19.—The following statement on Congressional Cuban resolution was given out to-day at the office of the Cuban Junta:

"The resolutions as they stand are tantamount to the recognition of the Cuban republic. The declaration is that the people of Cuba are free and independent, while the Cuban people acknowledge allegiance only to the republic of Cuba, which they have established and maintained by force of arms. The only object of the insurrection was the independence of the Cubans. This is provided for by the resolutions. The Cubans asked that before intervention there be recognition of indepedence. This was also provided for by the resolutions. Their desire to run their own government, free from coercion, is provided for by the fourth paragraph of the resolution. Under these circumstances the demand made by the United States that Spain at once evacuate the islands, and the threat that in the event of her refusal the land and naval forces of the United States will be used to compel evacuation, certainly merits the deepest gratitude on the part of the Cubans. Should force be necessary on the part of the United States there will be the most complete co-operation by the Cuban Government and its army. Coast pilots and practiced guides will be placed immediately at the service of the United States, and in every practical way will the Cubans aid in expelling the common enemy.

"To the patriotism of the American people and the American press the Cubans owe a debt of deepest gratitude, and for the confidence which the American people have in them they hope to prove their worthiness.

"The steadfastness with which they have pursued their ideal for independence and the organization which they have shown in their fight against Spain are sufficient proof that they will be able to maintain their independence and that peace will be their only object for the future."

SPAIN SEES NO PROSPECT OF PEACE.

It Is Believed That a Rupture Is Now Only a Question of a Few Hours.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

Copyright by the Press Publishing Company, 1898.

(Dispatch sanctioned by the Spanish Government and passed by Censor.)

MADRID, Spain, April 19.—The worst is expected by all now. Even in official quarters, where hitherto there has been steadfast confidence that peace would prevail eventually, it is believed that a rupture is a question of only a few hours, for the Spanish Government cannot avoid opposing a refusal to any suggestion President McKinley may make involving independence for Cuba.

A council of Ministers was held at Premier Sagasta's official residence last night to complete arrangements for the session of the Cortes, which will begin Wednesday, and to discuss foreign and domestic matters of importance.

The Cabinet has carefully selected candidates in both chambers with a view to maintaining discipline in the ranks of the Liberal majority in anticipation of unpleasant debates, which the Government knows already that Robledo, Weyler, the Carlists and the Republicans intend to provoke on international and colonial questions.

The extreme parties are still trying to make mischief. They are distributing in some streets of Madrid violent little handbills against the monarchy and are publishing all sorts of exaggerated and absurd articles in their papers, which, however, seem to produce no effect.

ARTHUR E. HOUGHTON,
Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

MADRID, April 19, 1 p. m.—The general belief here is that the joint resolution of Congress makes war between Spain and the United States inevitable.

The correspondent of the Associated Press was the first person to take the news of the action of Congress to the United States Minister, Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, and to the Minister for the Colonies, Senor Moret, and the Minister for Foreign Affairs, Senor Gullon.

The Premier, Senor Sagasta, had a long conference with the Queen Regent this morning.

The Imparcial to-day, commenting upon the commercial aspect of the war, which it regards as certain, "as soon as President McKinley stops vacillating," says:

"The Americans who are rushing into war will be surprised to find that it is not an affair of weeks but of months. It will last until the commercials are more anxious for peace than they are now anxious for war."

The Liberal says: "The Spaniards are tired of talk of papal and other interventions. War is a matter of hours in spite of rumors of delays upon President McKinley's part."

The Liberal urges Spain to stop argument, adding: "The time has come for blows and not for words."

PREPARED TO FACE WAR RATHER THAN LOSE CUBA.

MADRID, April 19, 2:30 p. m.—The terms of the speech which the Queen Regent will deliver at the opening of the Cortes to-morrow are jealously guarded, but it is said the speech will prove firm, convincing and satisfactory to the national sentiments.

It is claimed here that perfect unanimity prevails in Spain to face war rather than yield to the demands of the United States.

THEY BLEW OUT THE GAS.

Two Young Men From St. James Nearly Suffocated.

FOUND UNCONSCIOUS IN "HOTEL COMFORT."

ONE HERE TO SEE HIS BROTHER IN THE ELEVENTH REGIMENT.

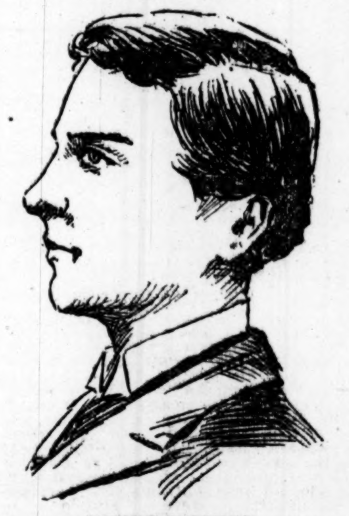
CAME NEAR WAKING UP IN ANOTHER WORLD.

Gaslight Prevented Their Sleeping and They Achieved Darkness by the Only Means They Knew.

Henry Hughes and Emmett Hall came to town from St. James, Mo., Monday night, and blew out the gas. They escaped complete asphyxiation only by the narrowest margin.

Hall is 18 years old and a clerk in a general store at St. James. He has a brother in the Eleventh Infantry whom he has not seen for years. He determined to see him before the troops went to Cuba. Hall's special chum is S. Henry Hughes, 19 years old, a young farmer. Together they planned a trip to St. Louis, arriving here Monday morning.

The day was spent at the Barracks and in seeing the sights around town. About 7 o'clock the young men appeared at the Comfort Hotel. Elliot C. Bennett, the proprietor, registered them. They paid for lodging and breakfast and asked to be shown their room, as both were wearied after the day's long tramp.



HENRY HUGHES.

Mr. Bennett remarked something about the earliness of the hour for retiring.

"Oh, we're tired and it's the time all Phelps County folks go to bed, anyhow," replied Hall.

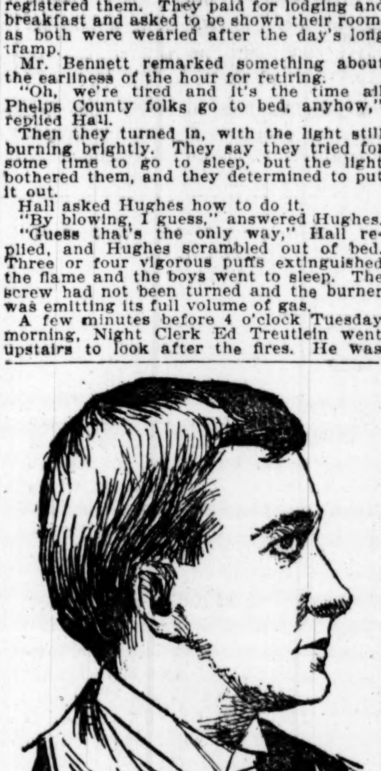
Then they turned in, with the light still burning brightly. They say they tried for some time to go to sleep, but the light bothered them, and they determined to put it out.

Hall asked Hughes how to do it.

"By blowing, I guess," answered Hughes.

"Guess that's the only way," Hall replied, and Hughes scrambled out of bed. Three or four vigorous puffs extinguished the flame and the boys went to sleep. The screw had not been turned and the burner was emitting its full volume of gas.

A few minutes before 4 o'clock Tuesday morning, Night Clerk Ed Treutlein went upstairs to look after the fires. He was on the second floor when G. A. Sherman of room 26, just across the narrow hall from 34 called down.



EMMET HALL.

"Come up here. There's trouble in 34. Somebody's dying," said Sherman.

When Treutlein reached the third floor loud groans were coming from the country boys' apartment. The clerk tried the door, then pounded vigorously on the panels. There was no response save louder groans.

The man then climbed up to the transom and after some difficulty forced it. A wave of gas struck his face. He instantly divined the difficulty and dispatched Sherman for the proprietor, while he ran over to Union Station for an ambulance. Mr. Bennett tried to force the door, but the chair behind it held fast. He called for an axe and a few strong blows sent the door in with a crash.

Bennett rushed to the windows and threw them open and then turned his attention to his guests. Both were unconscious and breathing heavily. Hall was in bed, but Hughes had struggled to the floor and was laid out at full length near the door.

Hughes and Hall were received at the City Hospital at 4:45 o'clock Tuesday morning, more dead than alive. They were unconscious, and limp as rags. The hospital doctors began working with them, and at 9 o'clock they were out of danger.

Each patient was bled, more than a quart of blood being drawn from the arm. A solution of salt was injected hypodermically and artificial respiration was induced.

Hughes was much the stronger when a reporter visited them Tuesday.

"Well, you see, I didn't know anything about this here gas business," he said, "and I could not sleep with the light shining and glaring in my face. So I just blew it out. I thought that was the way to put out the light, but I reckon it wasn't.

"No, you bet I ain't going to the war. I would rather stay on the farm. And I don't want any more of the city and its gas, either."

Hall was considerably weaker than his companion, and said he had been terribly sick.

"It is the first time I was ever in St. Louis and I did not know anything about gas. When Henry blew it out I thought it was all right."

SENATORS COMMENT ON THE RESOLUTIONS AS PASSED.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—When the Senate assembled groups of Senators gathered together in the cloakrooms and the lobby and discussed the Cuban question in its latest phase. It was the general opinion that the resolutions as passed last night were the best to be had under all the circumstances

Democratic Senators were not satisfied with the resolutions. They favored outright recognition of the present government.

The common belief expressed, however, was that the resolution means the ultimate freedom of Cuba. It means, further, that the war in Cuba must stop, that Spain must be expelled from the Western Hemisphere.

These are the points that rose paramount in the minds of Senators and Representatives. Congress as a body doesn't care a rap about the form of government that prevails in Cuba, just so the deplorable condition of affairs cease and Spain withdraws her troops from the island.

Senator Burrows of Michigan said to a Post-Dispatch correspondent this afternoon that he believed the resolutions as passed last night were mandatory, that the President is "directed," not "authorized," to use the land and naval forces. He said, further, that the resolutions meant the certain freedom of Cuba from Spanish rule.

Senator White of California, a "peace" man, gave it as his opinion that Congress made an unpardonable blunder in the passage of the Davis resolution. He believes that it will entangle the United States in complications with the great European powers.

Senator Gray of Delaware said the resolution is the best that could be had. He looks for a speedy settlement of the trouble in Cuba.

Senator Chandler of New Hampshire, Senator Mason of Illinois, Senator Platt of New York are like-minded.

ECZEMA FROM BIRTH

Baby's Arms Neck Hands and Face Broken out with Red Pimples. Terribly Inflamed.

Had to Wear Soft Mittens to Keep Her from Scratching. Suffering Was Terrible.

2 Leading Physicians Could Not Even Help Her. Tried CUTICURA. Immediate Cure.

Our little daughter, now fifteen months old, was troubled from her birth with Eczema. Her face, arms, hands, and neck would break out with red pimples, the parts afflicted would swell and become terribly inflamed, water would ooze out like great beads of perspiration, finally this would dry up and the skin would crack and peel off. She suffered terribly. Had to wear soft mittens on her hands to keep her from scratching. We gave two of our leading physicians a good trial, but neither of them helped her in the least. I purchased Cuticura Soap, Cuticura (ointment), and Cuticura Resolvent, and commenced using them as follows: After bathing I wiped her with a soft linen cloth, applied Cuticura (ointment) freely, and gave her the Resolvent regularly. She improved at once and is now never troubled, although we have used less than one bottle of Resolvent, three boxes of Salve, and of course Cuticura Soap. The statements I have made are absolutely true and not exaggerated in any way. Would also say you have my permission to publish this, should you wish.

LEAVENWORTH TROOPS MAKE THEIR START.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., April 19.—Eight companies of the 22d Infantry from Omaha passed here at an early hour this morning. Four troops of the 6th Cavalry and eight companies of the 20th Infantry from Fort Leavenworth are now moving. Their baggage train left at 9 a. m. The entire business section of the city turned out in a farewell demonstration. Whistles were blown and bells rung when the troops left the fort warning the city in time to allow schools to close, factories to release men, clerks to leave stores, professional men to close offices and get to the railroad in time to take part in the demonstration. The Missouri Pacific handles troops from here to Mobile, Ala., and all trains are late this morning at this point on that road.

MOVING SLOWLY AFTER LAST NIGHT'S BATTLE.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Proceedings were very slow and dull in Congress today. The House early adjourned after a personal explanation by Grosvenor that he in a recent speech had intended no reflection on the loyalty of Democrats or Populists. He said the South will be foremost in the war at hand.

In the Senate Allen offered a resolution recognizing Cuban independence and declaring that the United States should insist Cuba should not be responsible for any debt of Spain. He and Butler discussed it and then the Senate took up the sundry civil bill.

SHARP DECLINE ALL AROUND.

Agreement in Congress Comes Earlier Than Wall Street Expected.

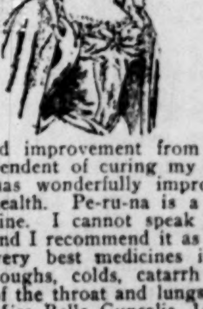
NEW YORK, April 19.—The agreement in Congress on the Cuban resolution came sooner than was expected in Wall Street, where delay was looked for. As a result there were sharp declines all around. Early quotations from London were eagerly scanned and showed prices of Americans off a point or over in the leading internationals. Spanish 4s at the same time had slumped 3⅝ to 37⅝. The internationals were the chief sufferers in the opening trading here, Union Pacific preferred, Louisville & Nashville, St. Paul and Northern Pacific preferred being conspicuous, with losses of over a point. Declines, however, were not fully down to the London parity. A number of the specialties showed sharp losses also. Tobacco lost 2½ at the opening, but immediately recovered.

The bears showed no disposition to follow up their advantage after the opening and in the absence of any pressure to sell prices recovered slightly all around. The market fell into dullness, the only feature being the irregularity of Tobacco, which touched 104¼. By 11 o'clock, however, the selling movement was actively renewed and prices fell to the lowest.

TUSCOLA, Ill., April 19.—Officers succeeded in capturing Joseph Godschalk today. He was placed under bond of $2000 on charge of assault with intent to kill upon Sheriff Bagley.

A WOMAN'S ENEMY

Is Catarrh in Any Form, Stage or Degree.



"I can thank your medicine for curing me of chronic catarrh of the head, nose and throat, which I was afflicted with for five or six years, growing worse all the time, until I began taking your Pe-ru-na, with a marked improvement from the first. Independent of curing my catarrh, Pe-ru-na has wonderfully improved my general health. Pe-ru-na is a wonderful medicine. I cannot speak too highly of it, and I recommend it as being one of the very best medicines in the world for coughs, colds, catarrh and all diseases of the throat and lungs. Very sincerely, Miss Belle Gunsalis, 1416 Sixth avenue, Rock Island, Ill." Another of Dr. Hartman's patients, who was cured of a similar case of catarrh by Pe-ru-na, writes to him as follows: "I must state what Pe-ru-na has done for me. I was afflicted with catarrh of the head, nose and throat. After I had suffered for about a year a terrible cough set in. My side and back were so sore that I could not rest at night. My head was dizzy. Most of the time I was exhausted and tired. I could do nothing, was unfit for work and some of the time was confined to the bed. I wrote to you and you advised Pe-ru-na. I only used three bottles, and now I feel stout and hearty. The world could not buy my fortune. Pe-ru-na is the best medicine sold."

LETTIE'S LOVE WAS A SOLDIER.

When He Was Ordered to the Front She Tried to Die.

LEFT HOME AND MOTHER TO BE NEAR HIM.

PATHETIC DEVOTION OF MISS LUSK OF XENIA, ILL., TO OSCAR BRETCHER.

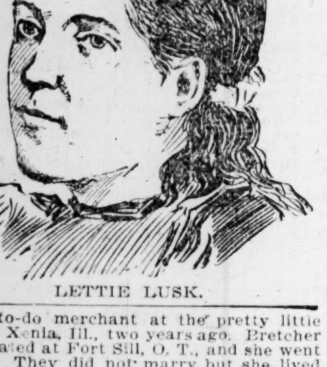
HE NEGLECTS HER, BUT SHE CLINGS TO HIM.

Her Life Saved by Prompt Action, She Declares She Will Go With the Army as a Nurse to Watch Over Him.

When Lettie Lusk received a note from her soldier lover, informing her that because of the war with Spain he had been ordered to the front and he could see her no more, she concluded that life was not worth living and she sought peace in 10 cents' worth of morphine.

Dr. Sutter and his assistants used the stomach pump and her life was saved.

Lettie is not yet 19 years old and is quite pretty. Her love for Oscar Bretcher, a soldier in the regular army, caused her to leave the home of her father, Samuel Lusk, a well-to-do merchant at the pretty little town of Xenia, Ill., two years ago. Bretcher was located at Fort Sill, O. T., and she went to him. They did not marry but she lived in the town and he called on her as often as the circumstances would permit.



LETTIE LUSK.

Bretcher's home was in Centralia and it was while he was on a furlough that she met him. She was visiting in that little city. The young soldier's erect carriage and stunning figure captivated the young and unsophisticated maiden, and when he whispered tender words into her ears she gladly listened. Though he told her that marriage was impossible she willingly forsook her old home and her parents and agreed to accompany him back to his post.

She returned to her home, but only to get her few belongings, and then she rejoined her lover. She left a note telling what she had done. Her father made no effort to get her to return. She had left her home without cause and had entered on a life of shame. He was done with her and would not allow her to return, even if she so desired.

When the soldiers were transferred from Fort Sill she accompanied Bretcher to St. Louis. She went to 19 Moore street, and though Bretcher was tiring of her, he occasionally visited her.

Monday she received a note from him telling her that he had been ordered to the front and she would probably never see him again. The news drove her almost mad. She wept and refused to be comforted. At 10 o'clock Monday night she bought 10 cents' worth of morphine. She went to her room and swallowed the drug. Then she wrote the following note, which was found in her hand:

"I will be 18 the 13th of December. Please send out to my father at Xenia, Ill., and tell him that I am dead. LETTIE."

Doctors worked with her all night and at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning she was out of danger. She told a Post-Dispatch reporter the story as related above.

"I don't want to die now," she said. "I will live and if I can I will go to the war myself as nurse, where I can always be close to him and nurse him if harm befalls him."

COAL MINERS CAUSE TROUBLE

Illinois' Governor Gives Over State Arms to Quell Their Rioting.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 19.—Gov. Tanner has ordered twenty 50-caliber Springfield rifles sent to Rosborough, near Sparta, Randolph County, and 1000 rounds of ammunition to be used in quelling disturbances of rioting coal miners.

Sheriff McFarland called on the Governor this morning and explained the situation. He will return with rifles to arm deputies. If the Sheriff cannot maintain peace the Governor says he will call out State troops.

TWO WOMEN'S LONG WALK.

They Make Their Own Way on Foot From St. Louis to Topeka, Kan.

TOPEKA, Kan., April 19.—Two women, Mrs. Susan Harlow and Mrs. Annie Rignold, accompanied by the latter's 6-year-old son, arrived here yesterday, having walked almost the entire distance from St. Louis. Their feet and limbs were swollen and they were obliged to seek medical attention and rest at the City Hospital. They left St. Louis three weeks ago with only a small amount of money, and walked the whole distance of Topeka with the exception of 88 miles, which they traveled in a farm wagon. The women are sisters-in-law and both widows. Their destination is Newton, Harvey County, where relatives reside, and tickets will be furnished them for the rest of the journey.

TROOPS GOING TUESDAY NIGHT,

Unless There Is Another Clash of Orders.

THIRD CAVALRY BILLED TO DEPART FIRST.

THEY WILL BE FOLLOWED BY THE ELEVENTH INFANTRY REGIMENT.

TRAIN LOADS OF SOLDIERS PASSING THROUGH TOWN.

Many Preparations Being Made Locally for Active Participation in the Coming Conflict of Arms.

Unless some new crank gets into the powers that be in these times of war, the 3d Cavalry will leave Jefferson Barracks before 5 o'clock Tuesday evening. The 11th Infantry will depart for Mobile some time Wednesday morning.

This was the confident expectation of the officers at the barracks Tuesday morning. But they just as confidently expected to get away Monday, and were disappointed, so they are prepared for disappointment again.

"I think we will make it a go this time, however," said Adjt. West Tuesday morning. "The cars are waiting for us, and nothing is left but to load our plunder aboard."

The delay was the result of a misunderstanding between the Louisville & Nashville Railroad and the Iron Mountain Railroad. The former is to transport the cavalry and the latter the infantry. The Louisville & Nashville expected to use cars of the Missouri Pacific, but was disappointed at the last moment. This necessitated telegraphing to Louisville for cars, which arrived Tuesday morning.

The baggage of the 11th Infantry arrived early Tuesday and was unloaded by 10 o'clock. The work of loading the cavalry's equipment began at once. The matter of loading is made more tedious by the lack of adequate switching facilities.

As soon as the train carrying the cavalry equipment and horses is loaded, it will start for Chickamauga Park, via St. Louis and the L. & N. Railroad. It will compose the first section, the second, filled with men and officers, following as soon after as possible.

When these trains are out of the way the Iron Mountain Railroad will have its trains ready to receive the paraphernalia and men of the 11th Infantry. They will go to Columbus, Ky., and from there via the Mobile & Ohio to Mobile.

The last finishing touches were put on the packing of the cavalry's effects this morning and the boxes and bales were carried out of the barracks and piled ready for transfer to the train. There were no idle men at the post. Everybody had something to do and did it with a rush.

The officers looked like they had just come in from a long, hard campaign. They had donned their old clothes, leggings and campaign hats. Maj. Wessells, alone among them, maintained a spruce appearance, and even he made a concession in the shape of a new campaign hat.

None of the officers knew until a Post-Dispatch reporter told them, that Congress had adopted the war resolution. Up to today, they have been dubious about the chance of war. When they learned of the action of Congress they dropped their doubts.

Lieut. Suplee of the Third, who yesterday was downhearted over the prospect of having to remain behind in command of the deserted post, was overjoyed Monday night by the receipt of a second order permitting him to accompany the troops. Capt. Knight, constructing quartermaster, will take command of the post after the departure of the troops.

Capt. Ewing, who is the assistant surgeon attached to the Third, will remain at the barracks several days after the troops go, but he will not, as has been erroneously stated, remain permanently.

"Nothing could keep me here," he said. "I want my friends to know that I will be at the front. I will probably go to some army hospital near the field."

Col. Derussy, commanding the Eleventh Infantry, was too busy Tuesday morning to talk much.

"I know nothing more than you know," he said. "We will get away probably Wednesday morning. That is all I can say."

There is going to be some difficulty in finding homes for the families of the officers of the 11th. The houses at the Barracks are all occupied by the families of the 3d's officers. It is probable they will have to double up and some of the folks of the 11th may have to find a home in the big officers' clubhouse.

The change in the weather has seriously affected the men of the 11th, from Col Derussy down. They are not used to the raw wind that blew Tuesday morning, and they shivered painfully.

Lieut. W. H. Johnston, United States Military Instructor at the St. Louis University, has received orders to immediately join his regiment, the 16th Infantry. Lieut. Johnston married in St. Louis, and his family will remain here for the present.

Two companies of troops from Fort Leavenworth passed through St. Louis Tuesday afternoon, en route to Mobile.

Twenty cars of soldiers from Fort Crook arrived in two sections Tuesday afternoon, en route to Mobile.

PRICE OF MULES GOES UP.

Combination Alleged to Exist Between the Dealers.

Since the contract was closed recently for 1000 mules to be supplied the Federal Government for the army of occupation there have come rumors of a combination between mule traders of Kansas City and St. Louis, whereby the price of mules has been advanced.

Reference to the market quotations will show an advance of fully 25 per cent, and it is alleged that since the Government's late order for the purchase of 1800 more mules an additional advance is contemplated.

Information is telegraphed from Kansas City that the 200 mules sold there last week to the Government for $83.40 a head, and the 800 sold in St. Louis for $94 a head, cost the dealers less than $50 a head.

Other dealers who have either been caught napping or did not desire to take advantage of the opportunities presented for big investments and profits, are protesting loudly against the large prices charged the Government. They could not bid against the alleged combination, for they claim the market had been cornered and they could not deliver the animals wanted in the quick time required. For weeks the Kansas City dealers have had agents placing options in every county of the State, in some instances paying not over $40 a head for mules.

During the past six weeks, it is said, the Kansas City dealers have sold 2500 mules to the Cuban and Spanish soldiers for the Spanish army.

A pile of pap[illegible] was [illegible]ront of them and the soldier [illegible]ould have been [illegible]re grave had they been planning an immediate attack upon an enemy's fortifications.

"We don't know a thing," said Col. Batdorf. "We read the newspapers for our news. We are not hearing anything from Jefferson City, and we can do nothing until we get orders. I am not at liberty to move the regiment until I am so instructed by the Adjutant-General.

"If President McKinley calls for troops from Missouri it will only be the practical men who will get the chance to fight. Those who by political preferment have high titles on the Governor's and brigade staffs will have to stay at home. The National Guard will leave Missouri as regiments."

Capt. Hunicke declared he had received no instructions from Washington and could not say what part the naval battalion will play in the stirring drama soon to be enacted.

CONSUL RIVERA SERENE.

He Has Received No Instructions From His Government.

Signor Mariano Rivera, who represents the Spanish Government in St. Louis as Consul, retains his outward composure and politely but firmly declines to discuss the vital points in the great war question.

He declares it his intention to remain in St. Louis and does not believe there will be any untoward demonstrations against the 30 or 40 Spaniards who are here.

His Government has not recalled him, he says, nor has it forwarded any instructions relative to insuring the safety of its subjects in Missouri.

"I have made no arrangements to send anybody away," said Senor Rivera Tuesday, "and probably will not, unless so ordered by Madrid. Nothing has so far come to me from the Ministry."

FANCY STUFF TO COME DOWN.

Gingerbread Fixings on the New City Hall to Be Removed.

The new City Hall is to be improved by the removal of the top-heavy fancy stone work around the dormer windows, the copper pike staffs on the roof and various other dingdacks which were supposed to be for ornamentation. They cost $20,000 to put up, and it will cost $1000 to tear them down, but the building will look better for their absence, and the danger will be averted of their falling by their own weight and killing people.

When the plans for the hall were being considered Prof. Ware of New York was called in as an expert, and paid $1000 for his services in making a selection. He decided in favor of the plan signed "Pro Patria," submitted by Sidel, Guissart & Ginder. "St. Louis 1492," the plan adopted, figured about fourth in the order of Prof. Ware's selections.

The recommendation of Prof. Ware was ignored, and the money paid him for his services was thrown away. The reason given was that "Pro Patria" exceeded in cost the limit of $1,000,000. This sounds humorous in view of the fact that the building has cost already nearly $2,000,000 under the "St. Louis 1492" plans. At the time the latter plan was figured down to $1,000,000 and Eckel & Mann, the architects, were given the award of $5000 offered as a stimulus to competition for the successful plan. Once adopted and contracts let, the plans and specifications were so altered as to nearly double the cost. The plan admittedly the best was discarded because it contemplated a cost something over a million dollars. Another plan, admittedly inferior, was adopted on the pretext that it came within the cost limit, and then the cost was doubled.

Mayor Ziegenhein has reduced the estimated cost of completing the building by $173,000 by objecting to all kinds of fancy doings in the interior. There were doors to cost $500 each and any amount of fancy interior finishings, which might be highly ornate, but would not increase the usefulness of the building, all of which the Mayor has succeeded in having the City Hall Commission replace with plain work, more in harmony with the city's financial condition.

JUSTICE FOR ST. LOUIS.

Attention of Shippers Called to an Important Fact.

The Traffic Committee of the Manufacturers' Association issued the following important circular Tuesday morning:

Public sentiment, right and justice are all behind the move to secure St. Louis bills of lading, to remove the bridge arbitrary and to dispose of the transfer charge.

This should all be done quickly, in the interest of St. Louis commerce. It should have been done years ago. It would have been done but for the indifference and inattention of the heads of departments, who have left the routing of their goods to shipping clerks. It will be done as soon as the business men of St. Louis realize that it is in their power to place St. Louis in competition with every other city on this continent.

The Missouri Pacific maintains receiving and distributing stations in different parts of St. Louis. It advocates making St. Louis the basing point for freight rates in the Mississippi Valley. It is essentially a St. Louis road, seeking the tonnage of this city to the West, the Southwest and the Northwest. The Missouri Pacific will establish more receiving and distributing stations if the commerce of this city demands the same.

The Burlington has spent a large sum of money and established a station on the west side of the river with all terminal facilities. The inattention of the shippers caused the Burlington to abandon the west side terminals and station. The Burlington seeks goods to the West, Northwest and the North. The Burlington issues St. Louis bills of lading with through rates of freight, and proposes, if business justifies, to reopen its station on the west side of the river. When routing goods bear in mind that the Burlington is friendly to the interests of St. Louis, that the Burlington did do at one time all that was asked by St. Louis shippers. Remember that the Burlington is ready upon a business basis to return to the west side of the river.

When routing goods to the West be sure to demand that all roads do for St. Louis to the East what they are doing to the West—do for St. Louis to the East what they are doing for all other cities on their lines. Demand of those roads St. Louis bills of lading, with through rates of freight on bill of expense. Very respectfully,

J. W. VANCLEAVE, Chairman,
Traffic Committee, St. Louis Mfrs.' Ass'n.
TOM L. CANNON, Secretary.

SUDDENLY LOST HIS VOICE.

Acute Laryngitis Mistaken for Insanity Causes a Small Panic.

Charles Schott threw the stage hands at the Standard Theater into a panic about 9 o'clock Monday evening by his peculiar actions. Charles is a head "grip," and was directing the boys to set the stage for a new act, when he suddenly ceased speaking, and stood in the middle of the stage gesticulating like a madman.

He continued to move his lips, but no sound came from them, and his face wore an expression of great pain. Other stage hands rushed up and threw Charles to the stage and sat upon him, firmly believing he was crazy. They hustled him to the City Dispensary in an ambulance, where Dr. Kearney found he was suffering from laryngitis brought on by a cold. The vocal cords had swelled until it was impossible for him to speak.

Schott was treated and sent to his home at 12½ South Third street.

THREE MONTHS FOR MURDER.

Killing the Result of a Fight and Not Premeditated.

Eugene Mullen, charged with murder in the second degree, was given three months in jail and fined $100 in Judge Zachritz's court Monday on a plea of guilty. Alex Suffern, a coal dealer at Twenty-first street and Washington avenue, was struck on the head with a brick a year ago in a fight with several men who were canning beer on his premises. Two weeks later he died. Mullen and T. Moore were arrested. Moore was acquitted. Mullen was given two years but got a new trial.

TACKLED A BIG JOB.

Circuit Clerk Jones Trying to Convert Sheriff Troll.

J. B. Jones, Circuit Clerk and Recorder of Reynolds County, is determined to bring Sheriff Troll into the straight and narrow path. He has written many letters and sent many tracts. A letter arrived Tuesday morning, which is a fair type of his style. It reads:

CENTERVILLE, Mo., April 15.

Henry Troll, Sheriff, St. Louis, Mo.:

Dear Sir and Fellow Officer—I will on Monday forward you a number of summons and petitions to serve, about fifty or sixty, if the parties do not come in and pay them up. We have, as far as possible, in the limited time given us here, done all the work we could to save and advance yours.

I do and will inclose from time to time mission work, cards, checks, etc. If you were doing a business you couldn't advertise and recommend, you ought to go out of it, and if a man's religion isn't such as does him good and he can recommend to his fellow-men and advertise to the world, I fear it is poor stuff to stand on at the judgment bar of God. I am for Jesus, anywhere, everywhere, in life, in death, in this world, in the next—and he is for me, is the best thought of all. Yours, in his matchless name and everlasting love, J. B. JONES.

Accompanying the letters are three cards, reading:

"Are you a spotted Christian? (See other side.)"

"How to have beautiful feet. (See other side.)"

"In the dark. (See other side.)"

On the reverse sides of the slips are texts from which the quotations are taken. There is also a tract on "The Experiences of Rev. T. H. B. Anderson, D. D., Los Angeles Conference, M. E. Church, South." Sealing the flap of the envelope is a little red paster which reads: "You may not be a farmer, but whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

Doctors agree that Malt-Nutrine is invaluable for the nourishing of convalescents. Malt-Nutrine is prepared by the famous Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association, which fact guarantees the purity, excellence and merit claimed for it.

Father O'Shea at St. Ann's.

"The One True Church, from Non-Catholic Authority," is the subject of a lecture to be delivered Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in St. Ann's Church, corner of Page avenue and Whittier street, by Rev. William O'Shea, C. SS. R. of Kansas City. Father O'Shea was stationed at Rock Church for many years, and is known as an able lecturer. As he has not been heard in the city since 1891, no doubt his many friends will avail themselves of this intellectual treat. He is on his way to De Soto to give a mission there.

REV. F. G. TYRRELL RESIGNS.

Dissatisfied Because of a Refusal to Enlarge the Church Building.

Rev. Frank G. Tyrrell, pastor of the Central Christian Church, has tendered his resignation to the official board of the church.

For a long time the pastor has considered the church building on Finney avenue, near Grand avenue, inadequate. The congregation has agreed with him but not to the extent of carrying out the plans suggested by him for its improvement. They were simply discussed. Recently the board decided not to make the improvements, and this led directly to the tender of the resignation. If the board reconsiders the pastor may do likewise. Mr. Tyrrell thinks the improvements could be accomplished if the congregation was willing to raise the money.

Recently Mr. Tyrrell has become associate editor of the Pacific Christian of San Francisco, and he has been offered a pastorate in that city. California is his native State, and if he severs his connection with his church here, it is thought he will go directly there.

In the event of his leaving it is thought likely that the oft-discussed project of an amalgamation of the Central and First Church, on Locust near Com[illegible] avenue, will be [illegible]

FACTS ABOUT BABIES.

What woman doesn't want a baby—a dimpling, laughing darling, dainty enough to be cradled in a snow-white lily? Every womanly woman wants one, but she doesn't want too dainty a baby. A baby's cheeks may be too waxen-white and its body too puny, and when that's the case, baby's cheeks won't dimple or its lips laugh, and death is in its eyes.

Above all things a woman wants a healthy baby, and she may have one if she will but use the right remedy for weakness and disease of the delicate and important organs that make baby a possibility. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best of all medicines for prospective or would-be mothers. It makes a woman's distinctive organism strong, healthy and vigorous. It allays inflammation, soothes pain and heals ulceration. It banishes the discomforts of the waiting time and makes the little newcomer's entree to the world easy and almost painless. It insures baby's health. In writing for advice to Dr. R. V. Pierce, for thirty years chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., a mother, wife or maid writes to one of the most eminent and skillful specialists in the world, at the head of a staff of physicians that has treated over 250,000 women.

"When I was taking your treatment, I sent in the names of three ladies who were sterile," writes Mrs. M. A. Scott, of Park Rapids, Hubbard Co., Minn. "One had been married seven years and had no children, and after taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription she gave birth to a big girl inside of a year. The other one was confined within a year and a half, after going six years without having any children. I do not know how the third one came out, for we moved away."

Torpid liver and constipation are surely and speedily cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasan[illegible] Pellets. They never gripe. They [illegible]gulate, [illegible]e up and invigorate the liver, stoma[illegible] [illegible]d bowels. No substitute urged [illegible] [illegible]ary dealers is as good.

IS ST. LOUIS HELPLESS?

Yesterday the Post-Dispatch published a story of the corrupt deal by which the Central Traction Franchise steal was "jammed through" the House of Delegates over the Mayor's veto. It was a shameful story. Seventy-five thousand dollars was distributed among the delegates for a franchise worth millions to the city.

But exposure is only the first step toward the prevention of boodling. The next step is the punishment of the boodlers. The laws of Missouri prescribe punishment for both bribe giver and bribe taker. They are guilty of crimes punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary for seven years. Under our present system, by which the whole power of legislation is vested in the legislators, there is no protection from corruption except in the punishment of the corruptionists. If that fails, the people are helpless victims of official rascals.

If the machinery of justice in St. Louis is not equal to the task of bringing to justice the men who have sold out the city, when the acts are published, St. Louisans are without protection from any scheme of plunder that may be devised. The city is at the mercy of the boodlers. Is St. Louis helpless?

◆◆◆

Bribegiving and bribetaking have been continued because it is so rarely punished. It is time to put the boodlers behind the bars.

NO SOUPHOUSE POLICY.

According to the local administration organ, the President is still bent upon the souphouse plan of intervention.

It is well enough to feed the starving Cubans, but to make it the main line of military policy instead of an incident of warlike operations for the purpose of drawing the Spanish fire is folly.

The chief task, the immediate work, is to rid the island of the wolves of Spain. To postpone this to a rosewater project of amiable sentiment and weak indirection is to make matters worse and make more difficult the accomplishment of the duty we have assumed. Time favors the Spaniard. We are drawing near the season of pestilence. There is not a moment to lose.

There is nothing maudlin about war. If we have undertaken it let us prosecute it with tearless energy and relegate sentimentality to the piping time of peace when we can afford to indulge it without cost or danger.

◆◆◆

The question of the recognition of Cuba is complicated with the question of the recognition of members of the House of Representatives who can't get the Speaker's eye.

SELF-CONTROL IN CONGRESS.

It is unfortunate at this time, when the eyes of the whole world are upon the American Congress, that the members of that body should show themselves so wanting in self-control.

A few days ago there was a disgraceful "mix-up" on the floor of the House. This was followed by a yet more disgraceful exchange of barroom compliments between two Senators, and Monday a member of the House called the Speaker a liar.

In such scenes there is nothing to sustain the boast that the American people have the virtue of personal self-control, which is at the base of self-government. Foreign critics will not fail to note and laugh. Our own representatives furnish them with an arsenal of argument and sneers against the "American experiment."

The country is confronted with a historic crisis. Congress is debating the high argument of peace and war, the most solemn of all questions. That the representatives of the people do not rise to the solemnity of the occasion and act like men who are conscious of their responsibilities is quite enough to make Americans hang their heads with shame.

◆◆◆

"Central Traction Company's money," says an organ of the corrupt combine, "will be in the pockets of the workingmen of St. Louis ere many weeks." A good deal of it is already in the pockets of St. Louis legislators.

THE "IDEAL" OF COMPETENT FINANCIERS.

Here is an "ideal" which one of the bondmongers' newspapers has in the mind's eye:

> A country worth sacrificing one's life for is not simply a certain area inhabited by mammals. It is a country peopled by highly civilized men loving art and literature and science, judged by good judges, administered by experts, financed by competent financiers.

In other words a respectable country—rich, cultured and full of intelligence, particularly financial wisdom.

Unfortunately, however, this "ideal" leaves no room for hope for those nations which have still something to learn, which are still human, which still fall short of competent finance. If we accept it in practice every nation on the earth will be at the mercy of pirates and marauders.

If sinners are not to fight for their rights what hope is there for the saints? By the way, didn't the Prince of Peace scourge a syndicate of "competent financiers" out of the temple on a certain memorable occasion?

The Turkish Empire, the Chinese Empire and the Spanish Empire can all be spared if they should have to go.

WALL STREET'S REGIMENT.

The country will be pleased to know that Wall street is to place a regiment in the field and pay for it.

But it would be better pleased to learn that the brokers and millionaires were to go to the front in person.

Not that any one desires them to sacrifice their valuable lives. But would they?

Fancy a regiment of multi-millionaires! What safeguards it could and would place around itself! What ranks upon [illegible] of machine guns would mas[illegible]ance and cover its flanks and rear. What tons upon tons of explosives would be there for mines and countermines to make it impregnable. What invention and industry and bravery would be called into play to make its marches and its camps invincible!

Such a regiment ought to go through Cuba like a thunderbolt. It ought to traverse Spain like a consuming fire. Spaniards of all arms would go down before it like pigmies or grasshoppers. It could fight the war by itself.

Wall street should go forward, conquering and to conquer. It can, if it will, conduct a campaign the like of which the world has never seen.

The city's property is to be sold at a time when good prices cannot be obtained for it, because our old new City Hall is not completed; and still a corrupt Municipal Assembly votes to continue the spoils system in all our expenditures.

◆◆◆

THE PRESIDENT IS RESPONSIBLE.

The passage of the joint resolutions by the two Houses of Congress declaring the independence of the Cuban people and directing the President to intervene and remove Spain from the island is the last of the long series of movements preliminary to war.

The President has now a free hand. From the moment he attaches his signature to this resolution the responsibility is his, and as Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy he alone is charged with the burden of prosecuting the war.

It is to be hoped that the prosecution of the war will be vigorous from the outset. There has been ample time to make preparation. The military force is ready for the struggle. With intelligence and energy at the head of affairs the war can be ended in a few weeks, the independence of Cuba finally assured, and the atrocious crime of Havana amply atoned for.

◆◆◆

Mr. Henry L. Weeke, member of the House of Delegates, seems to be a practical philosopher. "The men who worked hard for the passing of the Central Traction bill," he says, "deserve something for their work." By the same logic the burglar deserves something for his work, which is usually very arduous and attended with some peril. Let the grand jury adopt this philosophy and see that these hard-working gentlemen get their deserts.

◆◆◆

A correspondent, who signs himself a veteran of '61-'65, writes to protest against the suggestion that Col. Fred Grant be sent to Cuba with Gen. Lee as second in command. We have no reply to make except to remark that some good people are too desperately serious. Humor has been considered a characteristic of all Americans, and it is with sincere regret that we have now to record an exception.

◆◆◆

While we wait for war to kill its thousands, the trolley car fender in St. Louis is industriously adding to its record of maimed and slaughtered. "Only a negro killed this time," the Lindell directors and managers may exclaim. Only a human life blotted out. Only one more murder for the sake of bigger dividends. Who will be the next victim?

◆◆◆

Authority has been granted by Congress for the building of a grand trunk railroad line from Nebraska to the Gulf, with an extension to St. Louis. In the next ten years there will be a great deal of railroad building in the interest of St. Louis, and we must not forget the steel barges that are to give us the grain trade of the West.

◆◆◆

What does the President propose to do with 400,000 volunteers? Gomez is doing pretty well with one-tenth of 400,000 and when his veterans are suitably armed, as they will be as soon as Uncle Sam becomes a party to the row, they can beat the Spanish land forces without our help.

◆◆◆

The members of the Assembly who worked so hard for passage of the Central Traction steal certainly deserve something, as Delegate Weeke suggests. Let it be a striped suit and a long term in the penitentiary, where they can get a good rest.

The New Yorkers find that the underground electric system far exceeds in ease and readiness of working the overhead trolley. After a while the cars themselves will go underground and relieve the congestion on business streets.

"The law can't prevent persons from taking presents, nor is it a crime to accept one," says Delegate Willmore. Mr. Willmore's explanation could not be improved upon. It is as clear as crystal.

This being the case, we have only to persuade Young America—if it is possible to do so—to wait until he has attained his full bodily powers before he smokes. The doctors do not say that immoderate smoking is not injurious.

Property Owners Exerting All Their Energies to Prevent the Invasion of Their Sacred Precincts.

Harry F. Ewald, Secretary of the St. Louis Iron and Machine Works at 126 Chouteau avenue, threatens to introduce negroes into the fashionable part of town, at Vandeventer and Westminster place. He is having three one-story frame shanties built for the exclusive occupancy of colored families, and in all probability the houses will be completed by the end of this week.

Fashionable folk living on Westminster place, from Spring avenue to Sarah street, are vigorously protesting against the outrage, which they think is about to be perpetrated upon them, but work on the houses goes right on.

The property on which the shanties are being built was formerly owned by Lindell Gordon of 3913 Westminster place, one of the Lindell heirs. There is a 75 foot front to it, and it is situated between Dr. C. H. Gundelach's $28,000 residence at 3900 Westminster place and Mr. S. T. Moulton's handsome home at 3916 Westminster place.

About eight years ago Mrs. Grace V. Broughton bought 35 feet of the lot on the west, lying next to Mr. Moulton's residence, intending to build, but did not. Last year Mrs. O. F. Humphrey bought the remaining 40 feet, next to Dr. Gundelach's home, and got everything in readiness to put up a $12,000 home, on which work was begun.

Harry F. Ewald thought it would a good thing to erect a three-story apartment house on the entire 75 feet and he began negotiating with Mrs. Broughton and Mrs. Humphrey for the ground. He succeeded in buying Mrs. Broughton's 35 feet, but Mrs. Humphrey refused to sell. He went to Mr. Gordon's real estate office, at 114 North Eighth street, and related his plan of erecting the apartment house, whereupon Mr. Gordon told him it could not be done, even if he succeeded in getting possession of the other 40 feet, as there was a clause in the deed to the property which prohibited the erection of flats or apartment houses upon the ground and restricting the building to residences only.

Mr. Ewald called on Mr. Gordon several times afterwards and each time asked him to make that clause in the deed, but Mr. Gordon refused, saying it was in the community's interests to let it remain. Then Mr. Ewald gave Mrs. Humphrey formal notice of his intention to erect three shanties next to her $12,000 residence.

Work on Mr. Ewald's shanties was begun Saturday and the St. Louis Construction Co., who have charge of the building, say they will be completed by the end of the week. Each has a 10-foot front and is 15 feet deep, and all are attached. They will cost no more than $750, at the outside.

A colored family will move into each of the three shacks and pay a rental of $10 per month. The property owners of this part of town have held several meetings, and are highly indignant at the action of Mr. Ewald. The property owners and wrathy residents have held a meeting at the home of Mr. J. B. Holman, 3936 Westminster place, and a petition was drawn up signed by all of the residents protesting against such treatment at the hands of Mr. Ewald.

A committee composed of Messrs. J. E. Fogg, John Ring, S. T. Moulton, Hy. P. Wyman and J. B. Holman was appointed and they took the paper to Mr. Ewald's office Monday morning.

They returned home anticipating good results from their labor, but their hopes turned to despair when, at 6 o'clock sharp Tuesday morning, the stone masons began work, as usual, on the foundations.

Mr. Gordon said: "Mr. Ewald is from all appearances trying to 'get even' with me because I refused to recall the clause in the deed to the property relative to the construction of apartment houses on the ground. All the residents of Westminster place upheld me in not granting Mr. Ewald's request and if I had granted it I would have done a great injury to the property-owners. If Mr. Ewald thinks he is going to coerce me into compliance with his wishes by erecting shanties for negro families in our midst he is greatly mistaken."

Dr. C. H. Gundelach said: "I am bitterly opposed to Mr. Ewald's course, but I can do nothing. If Mr. Ewald is trying to wreak vengeance on Mr. Gordon he should not do it at the expense of the residents here."

Mr. Moulton, who will be a next-door neighbor of the prospective colored families, was not at home Tuesday morning, but his family denounced Mr. Ewald's houses as nuisances.

WITH SKULL CRUSHED IN.

Dead Body of an Infant Found in Fashionable Cabanne.

The dead body of a 1-week-old baby with the skull crushed and marks on the throat was found in a creek near Goodfellow and Von Versen avenues at noon Tuesday.

Charles Holland of 5565 Cates avenue made the discovery. He saw a large newspaper parcel in the creek bed. There was an old blanket within and in the blanket was the dead child.

The police say there is every evidence of infanticide. The find has created excitement in Cabanne.

He died before a physician could be summoned.

SALARIES WILL GO ON.

CIVIL PAY OF NATIONAL GUARDSMEN TO BE HANDED TO THEIR FAMILIES.

BUSINESS MEN HAVE AGREED.

Understanding Whereby the Volunteer Soldiers Will Lose Nothing Financially When They Go to War.

St. Louis banks, trust companies and big business houses will follow the patriotic example set by the similar institutions in New York, in guaranteeing the positions of such of their employes as are ordered or volunteer for service in the coming war.

The companies have made no agreement among themselves, but individually they have provided for the contingency of war in this respect.

Many employes of banks and business houses are members of the National Guard and as such are subject to the first call for troops. A large proportion of these men are married, and although their patriotism is beyond question, they have been worried not a little to know how their families will be taken care of in the event of their being ordered away.

They need worry no longer.

From the expressions of prominent bankers secured by the Post-Dispatch Tuesday the men may go forth in defense of their country, feeling sure that want will not pinch their families while they are away.

George W. Galbraith, cashier of the Third National Bank, was outspoken on the subject. "Of course," said he, "our Board of Directors has taken no action on this matter so far, but speaking personally I believe the banks will do the right thing in case their men are ordered out as volunteers.

"It is nothing but right that they should. The National Guard is organized as a defense, and has been ready at all times to defend our property. We should reciprocate, and show our patriotism by making war as easy as possible for the men who must fight. The banks are patriotic. They will show the right spirit when the time comes. I believe it would be right for the banks to guarantee to their men who go to war their positions when they return and pay their salaries to their families, if they are married, while gone."

George E. Hoffman, cashier of the Merchants'-Laclede National Bank said his bank had taken no action in the matter, and he could make no promises. "But if we must have war," he said, "we are all in for it, heart and soul, and the banks will be found all right when the time comes."

Cashier Wm. H. Thomson of the Boatman's Bank is an enthusiast on the subject. "You can say," said he, "that the Boatman's Bank will not only allow its men to go with the assurance that their places await them upon their return, but we will present to each man who goes the best gun obtainable and bid him godspeed. Those are my sentiments."

Judge George A. Madill, president of the Union Trust Company, was asked what his institution would do in the matter. "Send all our men, if necessary," was his prompt reply. "As to paying their salaries, we have an understanding. Our men are reasonable and none of them will suffer."

President William H. Thompson of the Bank of Commerce declined to say what action his bank would take. But his reply indicated that an understanding exists between the bank and its employes.

"Our understanding with our men is not a matter for publication," he said.

Hugh McKittrick of the Hargadine-McKittrick Dry Goods Co. was non-committal about the matter, but all his talk indicated that when the time came, an arrangement would be made which would be to the advantage of the men who are called to war.

COLORED WOMAN'S RAGE.

Made a Four Courts Lawyer Give Up Personal Property.

Acting Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Braden and his assistant, Taylor B. Johnson, had all they could do Tuesday morning to prevent an irate colored woman from assaulting Crittenden Clark, a Four Courts attorney.

The woman was Virginia Hood, wife of Tom Hood, who was sent to the penitentiary on a plea of guilty a week ago. He was charged with burglary and larceny.

The woman went to the warrant office to institute proceedings to recover the property the lawyer had in his possession which she said belonged to her.

While telling her story to Mrs. Braden, Clark entered the room.

"That is my husband's watch and chain you have on you now," she shrieked as she sprang toward the lawyer. She is a large and powerful woman and Clark is small.

"I gave you an order for them," she shouted, "and you were to return them to me."

"Your husband stole them," said Clark, "and they belong to me."

She made for Clark and would have got him had not Braden and Johnson interfered. They held the angry woman and told Clark to leave. He went out, but returned in a moment. He took the watch and chain from his pocket and gave them to her. He said they were his, but rather than have any further scene he would make her a present of them.

HARD ON THE JURY.

Real Estate Case on Trial With Unending Complications.

One of the most perplexing and complicated real estate cases ever encountered is on trial before Judge Talty and a jury in Courtroom No. 2. It is the suit of Charles B. Clark against John T. Davis and others over the title to the ground on which the Burlington building, formerly the Fagin building, now stands.

Mr. Clark is a son-in-law of the former owner, Aaron W. Fagin, and is fighting the new owners of the property. The case involves an almost endless list of transfers, incorporations and other real estate complications.

OPERATED ON AT 100 YEARS.

Oldest Patient Ever Treated at the City Hospital.

The oldest patient ever operated on in the City Hospital is Mrs. Annie Karney, who has passed the century mark.

She had a cancer on the lip when she entered the hospital. Dr. Sutter operated Monday and the old lady stood the operation nicely. Mrs. Karney was born in Ireland 100 years ago. In spite of her advanced age she is quite spry and says she is good for several years yet.

A BABY'S VITALITY.

MARVELOUS RECOVERY OF FRANCES LUTZ, WHO DRANK CARBOLIC ACID.

ENOUGH TO KILL TWO MEN.

The Child Was Apparently Dead, but Violated Medical Traditions by Regaining Consciousness.

Frances Lutz, a baby, only 2 years old, swallowed enough carbolic acid to kill two men, and will recover.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Lutz live at 2008 College avenue. Monday afternoon little Frances toddled over to the house of her aunt, Mrs. Mary Bircher, near by. The child found a soda bottle and swallowed nearly an ounce of the contents. It contained carbolic acid.

When Mrs. Bircher entered the room she found the child lying on the floor apparently dead. She ran with the child to Koch's drug store, John and Florissant avenues. Mr. Koch administered an emetic and sent for Dr. F. D. Wright of 2117 East Grand avenue.

The case was regarded as hopeless, but Dr. Wright went to work, and after a time the child moved slightly. Mrs. Lutz watched the baby all night. It moved and moaned occasionally. At daylight it opened its eyes, looked into her face and said "Mamma."

Dr. Wright said Tuesday he thought the child would certainly recover.

"Her escape from instant death is marvelous," he said. "She apparently swallowed enough of the deadly acid to kill two men. Restoration for the carbolic acid victim after lapsing into unconsciousness is almost unheard of. Such vitality in a child is simply marvelous."

BUSINESS MAN INSANE.

Verner B. Crane, Formerly of Cupples', So Declared.

Verner B. Crane, brother of Charles S. Crane of the Wabash railway, was declared insane by a jury in the Probate Court, Tuesday morning, and Charles S. Crane appointed guardian, under $2000 bond.

Mr. V. B. Crane now in an insane asylum at Jacksonville, Ill., where he was placed by his brother after an exciting trip half across the continent. About two months ago V. B. Crane was employed by the Cupples Woodenware Company. Suddenly he thought he would go into business in Buffalo, N. Y., and took a train for that city the same night. His brother followed as soon as he heard of it and found that he had been arrested for creating a disturbance, and had been fined, first $5 and then $15, the fine having been increased because he had thrown a stone at the judge. Mr. C. S. Crane started back home with him, but he managed to escape at Decatur, Ill., and was missing for some time.

One of the unhappy man's delusions was that he was very wealthy and about to marry a beautiful young woman. He had ordered a dress suit and a supply of diamond rings and other trimmings. The doctor who had attended him testified that he had progressive paresis and that his case was hopeless.

THE DISGRACE WAS TOO MUCH.

Constable Robert L. Lindsay Shot Himself.

ON ACCOUNT OF AN ALLEGED SHORTAGE.

HE WAS REPORTED BEHIND IN HIS ACCOUNTS TO THE EXTENT OF $1000.

BELONGED TO MANY FRATERNAL SOCIETIES.

In Letters to the Public Lindsay Gives His Reasons for Taking His Own Life—His Family Amply Provided For.

Because of the notoriety and disgrace following the publication of his alleged shortage, Robert L. Lindsay, Constable of the Ninth District, committed suicide at his home, 4357 Vista avenue, at 12:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. He shot himself in the right temple with a revolver borrowed from his deputy, F. W. Miller, Monday afternoon.

All Monday the man had been planning his own death. He arranged early in the day with his chief deputy, Edward C. Blackburn, the disposition of certain cases that he had in hand. He asked to see Miller's revolver, and placed it in his pocket, telling him it would be returned Tuesday.

He arrived home at 6 p. m. and stepped across the street to 4340 Vista, where Mr. Blackburn lives. In a chat with the deputy he talked of his disgrace and said he could never outlive it. He was very despondent.

But he did not let his wife know it. His demeanor changed when he entered his own home. He played with his baby children. There are seven of them, three being under 8 years of age. The youngest, 7 months old, was his pet. He held the little one fondly while at the supper table.

He left the house after supper, as was usual with him. He was a prominent lodge member, being connected with the Woodmen of the World, the Select Knights and Ladies of America, the Junior Order of United American Mechanics, the A. O. U. W., the Knights of Pythias and the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. His lodge duties kept him away frequently in the evening. He said he was to attend a meeting at Martin's Hall, 922 Old Manchester road.

At 10:30 o'clock Lindsay sat in his bedroom reading, until his wife and children retired. Mrs. Lindsay remained awake for possibly 30 minutes. It may have been longer. She remembers asking her husband when he was going to retire.

Something awakened her at 12:30 o'clock. The big hall clock just struck the half-hour. The lamp was still burning, but very low. She looked to the other side of the bed and saw her husband was not there.

Without knowing why, she jumped out of bed and ran into the hall. She looked down into the lower hall and listened; then she called: "Robert! Robert!"

The report of a pistol was her only reply.

Mrs. Lindsay realized that something terrible had happened and she fainted. Her son, Elmer, aged 12, who was awakened, ran down stairs, and in the dining-room, dimly lighted, saw his father prostrate over a chair, a revolver in his right hand and blood oozing from his head.

The lad ran out of the house, across the street to Mr. Blackburn's residence. The elder son, Robert, who also awakened, summoned Dr. W. P. Button of 4319 McKee avenue. But it was too late. The father and husband was dead.

On the table in the room were four letters, one addressed to the newspapers, another to the public, one to his wife and one to John Dieterle, his bondsman.

In two of the letters he intimated that a Justice of the Peace had wronged him.

Following is his letter to the public:

> To all My Friends—Do not condemn me for this act. I know that some of you will say, cowardly—but I say differently. It takes a brave man to do this. I mean by this that I insure my children something to eat for some time to come, as my life is insured.
>
> This man Cline has prevented me from getting re-elected. * * * I have always tried to treat everybody justly and hope if I have not that I will be forgiven.
>
> (Signed.) ROBT H. LINDSAY.
>
> P. S.—If the orders I belong to wish to take part, I ask that the I. O. U. A. M. be given preference.

Justice Cline, referred to, made the discovery of Lindsay's shortage and started the investigation that is now going on. Said Mr. Cline:

"Lindsay was short $409 in the collections of his deputy, Mr. Blackburn, alone. I mean that this amount he withheld from the city. He was short $100 in the clerk's account and a large sum, not now known, in his appeal case and transfer costs. The sum may reach over $1000, and may be more. Lindsay was given a chance to meet the deficiency, but I believe he hadn't any assets."

A sad point in the story is that Monday the deceased was just 40 years of age.

Brooklyn at Philadelphia.

This kind of weather is not the sort to make Sportsman's Park as it is to-day a pleasant place.

Only a handful of spectators went out to see yesterday's game, and this was a good thing, for rain commenced to fall before time for calling the game, and the few that were there huddled into the saloon on the corner to keep out of the wet.

The game was postponed, but Hurst kept his men at work all the same hitting the ball and pitching and throwing. He proposes to get his men in shape if he has to break a leg in doing it.

The last game of the present series with Chicago will be played to-day, weather permitting, and to-morrow the Clevelands will commence their series of four straight games here.

Architect Wees, who is going to rebuild the grandstand at Sportsman's Park, left last night on a tour of inspection and when he returns he will have some new ideas in the way of grandstand construction. He has already decided to build a tier of boxes which will run along in front just above the level of the ground, and instead of leaving space under the grandstand for the bar the new stand will run to the level of the ground. The reporters will have a stand of their own, which will be built on the ground floor and in the front of the stand. The stairs leading from the stand will all be constructed wide and straight, instead of winding, as the old stairs were. In this way there will be little cause for alarm in case of a fire or panic.

The St. Louis Club have given their substitute catcher, Clifford, his ten days notice of release. The Browns last year had Douglas and Morgan Murphy to do their catching and Clifford was not given a single opportunity to distinguish himself behind the bat. This year they have Clements and Sugden, and having no work for Clifford they have concluded to let him go. Clifford will make a corking good man for any team in need of a first-class catcher and all around player.

If the Browns play to-day Jack Crooks will be played at second instead of Bierbauer. The latter, once the speediest and showiest second baseman in America, played his old game in practice and in the early contests this year but in these first championship games he has had very bad luck, juggling the ball and making errors at most critical stages of the game and where they counted badly against his side. So Looey will be given a rest for a day or two and when he gets in proper shape and is able to do himself justice he will be given another chance to prove that he has some of his old skill and nerve left.

Capt. Billy Joyce, the St. Louis boy who is just now captaining and managing the New Yorks, does not propose that his team shall get the worst of it from the umpires or any one else. In an interview discussing the trouble at New York last Saturday, in which Umpire Snyder was nearly mobbed, Joyce says:

"I want to say, and with all possible emphasis that these two men, Snyder and Curry, are utterly unfit for the position of umpire. This man Snyder, who was not good enough to umpire in a trolley league in Jersey, robbed the New Yorks of yesterday's game. I blame Nick Young for sending these two incompetent umpires to this city for the opening game, the most important in the League, when you consider the fact that it was between the champions and a team that finished third last season, and will finish first at the close of this season. Now, why did not Nick Young send at least one capable man to umpire this game? I claim that the patrons of this city, the best baseball town in America, should have received some consideration at the hands of Mr. Young. He has not treated us fairly.

"These rules are a frost and an injustice. I do not believe they will last very long. The public will not tolerate the injustice of bad decisions by incompetent umpires. The idea of compelling ball players to yield to unfair decisions without so much as raising an eyebrow is an absurdity. Injustice is bound to result in a protest, no matter in what walk of life, and ball players are but human and no exception to the rule.

"I want to say very distinctly that I will not tolerate such discrimination against my team, rules or no rules. Snyder knew he had done wrong when he declared Hamilton safe at third, and he made it worse by putting Gleason out of the game without the slightest provocation. Gleason never left his position, but when that decision was made, the Kid threw down his glove and kicked it. He said not a word to Snyder, who turned around and ordered Gleason out of the game. But for my sending police to protect him, the crowd might have injured Snyder. Understand me, I favor the suppression of rowdyism, profanity and obscenity on the field, but I don't propose to stand like a cigar sign and see my team robbed by incompetent umpires."

Doctors now agree that consumption is curable.

Three things, if taken together, will cure nearly every case in the first stages; the majority of cases more advanced; and a few of those far advanced.

The first is, fresh air; the second, proper food; the third, Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil with hypophosphites.

To be cured, you must not lose in weight, and, if thin, you must gain. Nothing equals Scott's Emulsion to keep you in good flesh.

SHARKEY VS. JEFFRIES.

THE PACIFIC COAST GIANTS TO MEET IN THE RING ON MAY 4.

THE TWO MEN SIZED UP.

In Some Respects the Sailor Boy Is Only a Spring Chicken Compared to the Other Fellow.

The next prize fight between genuine heavyweights will be that between Tom Sharkey and Jim Jeffries.

They will come together in what is known as Mechanics' Pavilion, San Francisco, on May 6.

When it came to making this match between Sharkey and Jeffries the referee question, the one matter over which a hitch was expected, did not prove much of a stumbling block after all. Sharkey, who all along held out that a man must be brought from the East to fill the important position, capitulated gracefully. He agreed to accept a San Francisco man and the names of James Chesley and Alex Greggains were suggested. If either consents to act, the name of the referee will be embodied in the articles of agreement. If neither Chesley nor Greggains cares to preside over the ring festivities, a clause will be inserted in the articles calling for the selection of a referee within ten days from the time of signing. Should the men fail to agree upon a referee, the articles of agreement will be declared null and void and the match canceled. But nothing of the latter kind will happen, as both men mean business.

The match is to be for 65 per cent of the gross gate receipts. The fighters' share will be divided in the proportions of 75 per cent to the winner and 25 per cent to the loser.

Sharkey will train at Vallejo until within a couple of weeks of the contest, when he will shift camp to the Seal Rock House, near Ocean Beach. Jeffries will do his preparatory work at the Reliance Club, Oakland, his old stamping ground.

The match is regarded as a step towards determining who is to be the new champion of the world. It is considered on all sides that the bright particular stars of a year ago, in which class are included Corbett, Fitzsimmons and Peter Maher, have very few days of usefulness within the ropes left to them. Sharkey and Jeffries are not such finished boxers as the fellows mentioned, but they are big, strong fellows and, taken all around, can put up a very lively mill.

The comparative measurements of the men showing how they are matched in general build, weight, etc., are given below:

Sharkey.		Jeffries.
5 feet 8½ inches	Height	6 feet 1 inch
178 pounds	Weight	215 pounds
17 inches	Neck	17¼ inches
16¼ inches	Biceps	16 inches
13½ inches	Forearm	12½ inches
48 inches	Chest	43½ inches
43 inches	Waist	35 inches
22 inches	Thigh	26 inches
17½ inches	Calf	17¼ inches

Dan Creedon has evidently deteriorated greatly. In his fight with Billy Stift at Chicago last night he showed none of his old-time cleverness. Only once, in the sixth round, did he strike a blow with his right hand. This would make it appear as though his right arm was sure enough badly injured in his fight with McCoy, and as though he would never again regain the use of it. The Creedon-Stift fight was declared a draw.

Barry and Ratchford also fought a draw and gave a very scientific exhibition.

Johnnie Ritchie, the Kerry Patch boy, put it all over Eddie Sprague of Streator, but was only given a draw.

Eddy Santry also stood off Solly Smith, the wonderful little bantam from the Pacific coast.

Jack Everhardt and Jack Grace made a holy show of themselves, doing so badly that the referee declared their meeting no contest before the first round was disposed of. It is the first time Everhardt has ever been disgraced and he feels it badly.

Singlehardt and Bloom also fought a six-round draw.

The famous prizefight promoter, Dan Stuart, who has been seriously ill at Hot Springs, is recovering fast and is on his way to Mineral Well, Tex., where he hopes to rest. He expects to get McCoy and Fitzsimmons in the ring together before long and should they meet he thinks McCoy will win. He will take a long rest before coming North again.

At Richmond, Ind., yesterday George Boyce, champion lightweight pugilist of Indiana, was stricken with a ruptured blood vessel and has been unconscious for hours. Boyce is also a well-known baseball player.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON LEAGUE.

A Meeting to Complete This Organization Will Be Held Thursday.

A meeting of the Saturday Afternoon League will be held Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at 1008 North Twenty-second street for the purpose of completing its membership and perfecting its organization. The following clubs have already joined the league: Bonner Millers, Ely-Walkers and Rawlings. There are several applications for the fourth franchise, but it is the intention of the promoters of the league to make it as strong as possible, and with that end in view applications for membership will be received up to and including Thursday night, when the fourth club will be selected. Representatives of the clubs making application are notified to be there to present their claims in person.

THE CONDUIT PATH.

ITS OPENING WILL BE CELEBRATED NEXT SUNDAY MORNING.

PROMISES TO BE A BIG AFFAIR.

Chief Consul Lucas Requests All Clubs to Participate and Will Assign Them Positions.

The new Conduit Cycle Path will be opened, or rather patronized for the first time next Sunday morning.

Chief Consul Lucas proposese to make the occasion one long to be remembered. In connection with the opening he sends the following:

St. Louis, March 19.—Editor Post-Dispatch: The celebration of the opening of the "Conduit Cycle Path," from the old Waterworks to Chain-of-Rocks, will be held on Sunday, April 24. All league members and other wheelmen are requested to assemble at Twenty-ninth and Locust, at 8:30 a. m. Sunday.

The line of march will be west on Locust to Channing, north on Channing to Cook avenue; thence north on Grand to the old Waterworks, thence on Conduit to Chain of Rocks, returning via Conduit to the Gast Wine Co.'s pavilion, where a stop of a few minutes will be made for refreshments.

This gift by the Water Commissioner to the cyclists of St. Louis is quite a boom and the cyclists should show their appreciation of it by a great demonstration as to numbers and attest same by their presence in this parade.

All clubs are requested to participate and will be assigned positions in the parade according as notices of their intention to participate shall be received. A prompt reply is earnestly solicited. H. V. LUCAS,
Chief Consul, Missouri Division.

An Antarctic Expedition.

It is rumored in official circles that the Government contemplates sending an expedition to the Antarctic Circle during the ensuing year. This, if is said, will comprise eminent navigators, geographers, naturalists and astronomers, who will explore that comparatively unknown territory. There can be little doubt that discoveries will be made of the utmost importance to science. However useful these may be, they can never exceed the value, from a philanthropic point of view, of that discovery so fraught with benefit to the human race—Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This truly estimable medicine, discovered nearly half a century ago, has achieved a reputation for curative and preventive efficacy in cases of inorganic disease which has never had a parallel in the history of medicine. It cures and prevents malaria, chronic dyspepsia, biliousness, rheumatism, kidney and bladder complaints and nervous ailments. Use it steadily, not by fits and starts.

DR. RICE OF SANDOVAL HELD.

Coroner's Jury Finds That His Wife Was Poisoned.

Dr. George H. Rice of Sandoval, Ill., has been held to the grand jury of Marion County by the Coroner's jury which investigated the death of his wife, Mrs. Amy Rice, who died last November. The Coroner's jury found that death was caused by the improper use of morphine and cocaine.

The verdict was based on the report of the analysis of the viscera made by Dr. William C. Teichmann, City Chemist of St. Louis, and by the testimony of Dr. J. E. Chambers of this city, who assisted Dr. Teichmann in the physiological tests.

Dr. Teichmann testified that he found and separated cocaine in sufficient quantities to cause death if taken within a period of 24 hours. He found arsenic also, but as arsenious acid was an ingredient of the embalming fluid, it was impossible to differentiate between ante and post-mortem arsenic. He found also indications of another poison, but had not been able to separate it, and could not identify it conscientiously before making physiological tests.

Dr. Chambers testified that in his opinion death was caused by cocaine.

Dr. Donney of Sandoval, who was called in consultation shortly before the death of Mrs. Rice, stated that the case presented difficulties of diagnosis, and he could not agree to calling it cholera morbus, which was given as the cause of death.

Dr. Ussery of St. Louis, who made an analysis of the viscera in behalf of Dr. Rice, testified that he found neither cocaine nor morphine, but only a vague ptomaine, hardly worth mentioning. In the embalming fluid he found arsenic and zinc.

The jury deliberated one hour and recommended that Dr. Rice be held in light bond to the next grand jury which meets at Salem next Monday.

THE MARKETS.

ST. LOUIS, April 19, 1898.

A letter from Grand Forks, N. D., says: "Farmers will be through seeding wheat this week and prospects were never better at this season. The acreage will be largely increased."

Prime says: "The country experienced better weather this week than for months. Farmers have been seeding oats and the crop nearly all seeded this week."

Complaints quite general west of the Mississippi River of more or less damage to early sown oats by freezing. Little corn planted in Missouri and Kansas. Receipts of corn in the interior fair. No prospects for a marked increase in the next six weeks, as they will be the busiest of the crop campaign."

Broomhall cables: "Large consumptive business. Millers have large sale for flour. British wheat in small supply. Continent out bidding the United Kingdom. Buyers for Indian wheat. Feeling in Liverpool is that war is inevitable." McNear of San Francisco cables that California is likely to become an importer of wheat.

Beerbohm says: "Wheat cargoes strong. The United Kingdom hesitating, but the continent continues buying. French estimated requirements for the next 15 weeks, 2,800,000 bu."

Contract stocks of wheat in Chicago now include 920,000 bu of No. 2 red and 3,117,000 bu of No. 1 Northern, making 4,037,000 bu in all. Contract stocks of corn are 12,008,000 bu and of oats in Chicago are 851,000 bu.

The total stocks of wheat in Chicago public and private elevators and afloat aggregate 5,906,000 bu. Total stocks of corn are 22,036,000 bu and total stocks of oats in Chicago are 1,713,000 bu.

WHEAT.

The market opened higher to-day, as the warlike action of Congress naturally stiffened the European markets and increased the foreign buying, but the feeling was very nervous and fluctuations rapid. Local receipts were fairly heavy, but receipts in the Northwest were light. Crop news continues rather favorable as a whole, but there were some damage reports, and Broomhall cables a foolish report that California will be an importer of wheat this season. Trading was fairly active in futures, but the cash demand continues rather slow.

Receipts at primary points to-day were 321,772 bu, as compared with 296,021 bu a year ago. Shipments from these points to-day were 508,449 bu, as compared with 209,000 bu a year ago.

Receipts at Minneapolis and Duluth to-day were 153 cars, as compared with 291 cars for the corresponding date last year.

Receipts at St. Louis to-day were 12,649 bu, as compared with 5022 bu a year ago. Of these receipts 22 sks and 18 cars were local, as compared with 210 sks and 7 cars local a year ago.

July wheat opened at 82⅝c, more than 1c higher than yesterday's close. It sold up to 82¾c, down to 82⅜c, had 82⅝c bid, sold down to 82¼c, up to 82½@⅝c, down to 82¼c, was offered down to 82¼c, rallied to 83⅛c, fluctuated a number of times between 82½c and 82⅞c, was offered down to 82⅜@½c, sold up to 82⅞c, seesawed between 82c and 82⅞c several times, sold at 82½c, up to 82⅝@⅞c, down to 82½@⅝c, was bid up to 82⅞@⅞c, sold down to 82⅝c and on call was bid up to 83⅛c.

May wheat was offered at $1.02½.

Sept. wheat opened at 77½c bid, was bid up to 77⅝c, sold at 77¼c, up to 77⅞c, was offered at 77¼c, sold up to 77⅝c, down to 77⅛c and had 77⅝c bid, where it stood until call.

Spot grades—On call No. 2 red had $1.00¼ bid Farmers', with none offered; No. 2 hard had 93½c bid E. side, with none offered, and the other grades were neglected.

The sample market was quiet and steady, with light offerings and a fair demand. No. 2 red sold at $1.02, No. 3 red at from 97c to $1 and No. 4 winter at from 90c to 95c; No. 2 hard wheat sold at 95c and some ungraded hard at 96c on trk; No. 2 spring sold at 95c and No. 3 hard at 91c on trk; No. 3 mixed sold at 93c.

Clearances of wheat and flour to-day were equal to 386,000 bu.

Bradstreet makes the decrease in the available supply of wheat east of the Rockies 1,436,000 bu, the decrease in the amount afloat for and in store in Europe 1,300,000 bu, making the total decrease in the World's visible supply of wheat 2,736,000 bu.

The available supply of corn decreased 5,403,000 bu and oats decreased 1,303,000 bu.

Closing cables were as follows:

Liverpool—Spot wheat steady to ½d higher; futures steady, ⅝@1½d higher. Corn—Spot ½d higher; futures ⅝@¾d higher.

Paris—Wheat steady, 5 cms higher; flour 20@25 cms lower.

Antwerp—Wheat unchanged.

After call May wheat sold at $1.02¼ and closed at that.

July wheat sold down to 82⅝c, up to 83⅛c, down to 82⅝c, up as high as 83¼c, down to 82⅞, up to 82⅞c and closed at 82⅝c asked.

Sept. wheat was offered at 78c, then down to 77⅞c, had 78c bid, was offered down to 77¼c, was bid up to 77⅞c, was offered at that and closed at 77⅝c asked.

Dec. wheat had 78⅛c bid and 78½c asked and closed at that.

CORN.

The market in this option was also higher, but the feeling was nervous and speculation light.

Local receipts were light and the cash demand continues good, while offerings are very light.

Exports continue heavy, the foreign demand is good and cables were higher. Shippers are still reported heavy buyers at all of the principal markets and the outlook appears bullish.

Receipts at primary points to-day were 426,358 bu, as compared with 281,000 bu a year ago. Shipments from these points to-day were 934,115 bu, as compared with 381,733 bu a year ago.

Receipts at St. Louis to-day were 56,115 bu, as compared with 69,025 bu a year ago. Of these receipts, 246 sacks and 16 cars were local, as compared with 730 sacks and 17 cars local a year ago.

May corn opened at 29½c bid and sold at that, ¼c higher than was asked at the close yesterday. It sold at 29⅝c, down to 29½c, up to 29⅝c, down to 29½c, and on call sold up to 29⅝c.

CARONDELET NEWS.

Benton Council, No. 388, National Union, will present "Josiah's Courtship" at Turner Hall, Michigan and Robert avenues, Friday evening, April 22.

The village election will be held at East Carondelet Tuesday. Two tickets are in the field, but only one has a full set of candidates. The complete ticket is the "People's" and has the following candidates: President Board of Trustees, William Kirchoff; village clerk, J. C. Sinclair; village trustees, Joseph Shoults, John Schumacher, Thomas Mayfield and J. C. Nance; police magistrate, John A. Gray. The incomplete ticket is called the Independent and has only three candidates. They are President Board of Trustees, J. J. Wirges; village trustee, Thomas O'Gorman; police magistrate, James N. Carlton.

Six well-known citizens of Carondelet will leave for Portland, Ore., Tuesday night, where, after joining two others who have preceded them, they will leave for the Klondike. They are Dr. J. B. Anderson, 6716 Minnesota avenue; William Shawk, 6604 Virginia avenue; Leonard Roos, Ewald Schneider, Barney Held and Charles Rose. E. S. Lucas and William Lehrs are the two at Portland, they having gone there about three months ago to superintend the construction of a dredge boat. The boat has been completed and is now being loaded with provisions. They have figured that 14,500 pounds of provender will last them 20 months. The route of travel will be to St. Michaels from Portland up the Yukon to Forty-Mile Creek and then they will disembark on the creek. Dr. Anderson said: "We expect to make it a paying trip, as our boat is on the dredge order and our location good, but even if we are unsuccessful we are sure of being kept alive. We may all return to Carondelet wealthy in a few years."

SHOT THE ASSAILANT.

John Seabolt Protects His Two Daughters With a Gun.

Misses Blanche and Cora Seabolt are milliners at St. Charles, Mo. They were going home from their store, Monday night, when they were held up by a highwayman, who attempted to make an assault upon them.

The young women fought and then ran for their home, not far distant.

There they reported the affair to their father, John Seabolt, who is superintendent of Wright Bros. Tobacco Co.

Mr. Seabolt directed the girls to return to the street, and he would follow with a shotgun. They had gone several blocks when the fellow again appeared and renewed his assault.

Instantly Mr. Seabolt raised his gun and fired, the shot striking the man in the shoulder. When help arrived the fellow was taken to the jail, where he gave his name as Bud Garner. He is suffering greatly from his wound, but the sympathy of the people is all with Mr. Seabolt for his courage and determination.

SEIZED THE GROOM'S TRUNKS

Nevertheless, Mr. Pannell and Miss Nunnelly Were Married.

William Pannell, a traveling salesman, and Miss E. Ailene Nunnelly of 2839 Washington avenue ran away to Clayton Monday afternoon and were married.

Miss Nunnelly had been employed in the advertising department of Drummond's tobacco factory and boarded at Mrs. Perry's house, where Mr. Pannell was also a boarder.

When the groom undertook to remove his trunks from the boarding house, they were seized by Mrs. Perry, who said Mr. Pannell owed her for several months' board. The groom left without his baggage.

The bride is from Dallas, Tex. Mr. Pannell was many years a clerk for the Pacific Express Co.

CIRCUS ENDS WEDNESDAY.

Last Performances of Ringling's in the Coliseum.

Wednesday night will be the last opportunity to see the circus at the Coliseum. Two performances Tuesday and two Wednesday will close the longest engagement a big circus has ever undertaken in St. Louis, and that this could be successfully done is proof of the merits of Ringling Brothers' show. Those who went early last week not only told their friends, but many went again themselves, and so it was that as the engagement progressed the attendance increased.

There is one thing the Ringlings may be congratulated on and which entitles them to the support of all decent people. From first to last there is not in the costumes, the jokes of the clowns or in any other respect, in word or action, a suggestion of the impure. The show is not only good throughout, but it is clean. It ought not to be necessary, perhaps, to mention this, but the prejudices of some people against circuses are based on the latitude allowed in some tented arenas designed to make a certain class laugh and the judicious grieve.

The menagerie of the Ringlings is really part of an education. It does not consist of a few elephants, a tame bear and a lion which has seen better days, but is really a menagerie worthy of the name. There is an immense herd of trained elephants, magnificent lions, tigers, hyenas, hippopotami, sea lions, camels, yaks, bears, monkeys, birds and so many specimens that the entire basement of the Coliseum is fully occupied by the cages.

BRIBERY IN COUNCIL AND HOUSE SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED.

Strong Letter Indorsing the Action of the Post-Dispatch Written by Albert L. Berry, President of the Civic Federation.

CONSTERNATION NOW REIGNS AT THE NEW CITY HALL.

Certain Delegates Rise to a Question of Privilege in the House and Say Meaningless Things Concerning the Post-Dispatch's Presentation of Facts.

The startling statement made in the Post-Dispatch of last night, accusing the Municipal Assembly of receiving a large sum of money for passing the Central Traction bill, should arouse every citizen to demand a full and thorough investigation of the facts which relate to the granting of so valuable a franchise, over the veto of the Mayor and against the laws of the State.

Our Municipal Assembly is the congress of our city; they are the legislative body who make our laws and ordinances, and into whose hands are entrusted the care and welfare of the people—our streets, our harbor, our public works and public buildings, all that pertains to the comfort, health and safety of the public. If that body has betrayed that trust; if, for personal gain, it has sold what belongs to the people, it is the right and duty of the press to expose the crime, and it is the solemn duty of every citizen to see that they are punished to the full extent of the law, and any man who is indifferent to this duty is not worthy of the privilege of citizenship.

Those who have watched the progress of the passage of the Central Traction bill through our Municipal Assembly, especially if they were present at the meeting of the Council when the bill was taken from the hands of the Railroad Committee, against the protest of the chairman, Mr. Halsey C. Ives, and other members of the Council, and placed in the hands of a special committee, and the manner in which the bill was finally passed, cannot help but be impressed with the conviction that something more than the welfare of our city actuated that body in its hurried action regarding this measure.

I am very thankful that the Post-Dispatch has taken the matter up and hope every citizen will uphold and support it in its endeavor to expose what appears to be an outrage on public decency.

During the exposition made by the Post-Dispatch on the methods of some of the members of the old School Board several citizens accused the Post-Dispatch of being sensational, but when the matter was brought into the courts the evidence showed a more corrupt condition of affairs than the Post-Dispatch had ever published; and if the matter just brought to the notice of the public through the same medium is brought before the grand jury, I doubt not a condition of affairs will be developed that will startle a large majority of our citizens.

AFTER THE BOMB BURST.

Effect of the Post-Dispatch Exposure on Delegates and Councilmen.

The Post-Dispatch's exposure of the boodle methods used in the Municipal Assembly to pass the Central Traction bill took precedence over the war news Monday.

It came like a cloudburst from a clear sky, the details of the "deal" incensed the public, and the men who sold out the city trembled at the thought of being caught in such a miserable transaction.

At the City Hall there was consternation as well as indignation when the story of municipal corruption was read.

The Mayor's ruddy countenance blanched as he glanced over the lines, the substance of which he so well knew from the lips of men he could not doubt.

But he had nothing to say. He simply shook his head with the remark: "I said all I could at the proper time and in the proper way."

"I knew it would come," was the exclamation of other officials as they eagerly read the startling headlines. They were not surprised to see in cold type the charges of corruption that have rolled through the City Hall for a week. They were too flagrant to be overlooked.

Both houses of the Assembly were to meet in special session at 5 o'clock to bring to a close the session of 1897-'98, and members gathered early to take a look over the bills they were interested in. They gathered in groups in the corridors and committee rooms, but no thought was given to legislation on hand; it was legislation that had gone before—the Central Traction bill—and the Post-Dispatch's exposure of the iniquitous methods used to "jam" it through the Assembly that absorbed attention. Neither House was in a good humor by a two-thirds majority. The Post-Dispatch had struck a solar plexis blow, and those who were open to its force withered and squirmed as they read the tell-tale facts of their duplicity and perfidy. It was understood that questions of personal privilege would succeed each other in impatient order in the Council, in reference to the Post-Dispatch's exposure, but not a member referred to it openly.

It was different in the House. Several members could not suppress what they termed their "indignation." Ex-Speaker Lehmann was the first to refer to the charges of "boodling." Despite the publication of his full and frank denial of all connection with the boodle Central Traction bill he undertook to denounce the interview with him as absolutely false, and when he had finished his rabid talk his hearers were puzzled to understand whether he meant to take back the self exculpation he had furnished the Post-Dispatch or not. The burden of his diatribe was to declare he did not know Promoter R. M. Snyder, and wouldn't know him if he were to enter the chamber that moment. He said he couldn't identify Snyder if $1,000,000 reward depended on it. As for him meeting Snyder at the Planters' Hotel that, too, was untrue.

Delegate Weeke, who said in Monday's Post-Dispatch that he didn't see why the men who had presented the scheming clique of franchise grabbers should not be "rewarded" for it, also affected to be "indignant." He said he thought he was talking to the reporter of some other newspaper than the Post-Dispatch.

King swore to have his honor avenged.

Schuler also felt "hurt," and declared he had been outraged, though he neglected to inform the House why it was that after opposing North and South bills for a year he suddenly changed his mind and voted for the biggest grab in the whole job lot.

These were the only members who came to the front on questions of personal privilege, but in private others were unbridled in the severity of their denunciation because the Post-Dispatch had dared to publish the truth.

The taint of corruption has not enveloped every member of the Assembly, and there are a few left who can discuss the Central Traction deal far different from the blatant billingsgate of the majority.

Councilman Charles Wiggins, member of the Railroad Committee, is one of the men who can testify to the machinations of the franchise grabbers. It was nearly a year ago when the first North and South Railroad bill was pending in the Council and rumors of boodle filled the air, and Mr. Wiggins flung a bomb into the camp by publicly declaring that he had been offered $3000 to vote for the bill. Mr. Wiggins' record against the bill is consistent.

While the majority of his colleagues, in fact two-thirds of them, were cursing the Post-Dispatch Monday afternoon for exposing their duplicity, Mr. Wiggins could contemplate them with a pity akin to loathing.

"This is an awful chapter in the city's history," said he, "and an indictment that makes every honest man blush to read it. But it was bound to come in the course of that iniquitous franchise grab, and the Post-Dispatch for having the courage, independence and boldness to strike it full in the face deserves the gratitude and thanks of every man who places public honor above private gain.

"The Post-Dispatch has shown that though the Municipal Assembly may sneer and scoff at the people of this city, and trample the Mayor's veto under foot, it can not swerve the Post-Dispatch from discharging its whole duty to the public.

"The exposures will bear fruit for purer methods in public affairs, and if I am not very much mistaken they point the way to the Four Courts and finally to Jefferson City.

"The public may well stand aghast at such exposures, but they are no surprise to the dullest habitues at the City Hall, and if the people who are responsible for it did not expect to see their doings in print, I don't see why because the deals and dickers of the franchise grabbers were common talk around the hall."

Alderman F. C. Pauley, who has consistently opposed the North and South bills, and every other bill that he could discover the least taint of a grab in, feels deeply the sting of the company he's in.

"I am glad to see," said Mr. Pauley, "that there is one newspaper in St. Louis that is fearless and enterprising enough to come out boldly and call a spade a spade. If there is corruption it should be exposed.

"The streets of this city belong to the people and from my point of view to give them away or for only a nominal price, even if it is under the guise of law, is no less wrong and criminal. The people have trusted their Assemblymen with their property rights and if they are dickered away it amounts to the same in morals as a trustee proving false to his trust."

GRAND JURY INVESTIGATION.

Judge Zachritz Talks of the Post-Dispatch Exposure.

Judge William Zachritz, who has charge of the grand jury, was seen at the Four Courts Tuesday.

"I know my duty," he said, "and will perform it when the time comes. I cannot now say what I will do. The grand jury is not in session to-day. A son of the foreman is dead, and I excused the jury for to-day. I have read the Post-Dispatch account of the alleged bribery, but I am not prepared to say what action I will take, nor what recommendations I will make. I prefer to act and not to talk about what I expect to do. I will certainly not shirk any duty that may present itself."

DAYLIGHT BURGLARS

Plunder a House and Coolly Drive Away in a Wagon.

The three bold burglars who looted the residence of Albert Nickens, colored, Monday afternoon are still at large. In daylight the robbers forced their way through the front door and ransacked the house, getting away with clothing belonging to the Nickens family and to Mrs. Nickens' sister, Mrs. Catherine Hurley, a school teacher, who boards there. There were two watch dogs in the house, but they did not molest the robbers. The men carried their plunder away in large bundles, in full view of the neighbors. On Elliot avenue, half a block away, they had a wagon in waiting. Placing the plunder in it they drove off at a jog trot. Besides the clothing they took four cane-seat chairs and two set rings belonging to Mrs. Hurley.

What they did not take they scattered on the floor. Members of the Nickens family now have only the clothing on their backs. Neighbors say the burglars were white men.

Judge Adams of the United States District Court denied the injunction Monday asked for by the Cannon Chemical Co. against Postmaster Carlisle, restraining him from withholding mail addressed to plaintiff. Judge Adams upheld the statute of 1896, vesting discretionary powers in the Postmaster General, and construing it to mean that the people were given the use of the mails not as a right, but a privilege.

SALTPETER IN MILK.

SOMEBODY MEDDLED WITH THE CANS OF A UNION DAIRY DRIVER.

HIS COMPANY INDIGNANT.

The Driver Quickly Notified His Customers and the Police Were Asked to Make a Search.

The Union Dairy Co. are looking for a scoundrel who has been causing them great batches of trouble recently.

A few days ago the customers on the route of John Scott, one of the Union Dairy Co.'s men, noticed a strange taste about the milk and called Scott's attention to it.

He thought it strange, but could suggest no remedy.

Yesterday Scott, while going the rounds, handed a little tin of cream to one of his lady customers, and she had no sooner tasted it than she spat it out, saying, "It tastes like salt. Some one has put salt in it."

Scott went to his can and tasted the cream in it. He at once noticed a strange taste. Then he tasted the milk and cream in his other cans, and noticed they, too, had a queer taste.

Then he ran around to see the customers he had served and to notify them not to drink the milk and cream he had delivered them. Every place he went where the cream and milk had been used he was told of the queer taste and notified that the milk had been thrown away and not used.

Scott, after he had gone his rounds, applied to a druggist and had the milk and cream in his cans analyzed. The druggist found that a lot of saltpeter had been thrown into the cans, a quantity sufficient to make the milk and cream unpalatable and unfit for use.

Neither Scott nor the Union Dairy Co. can imagine why any man or woman should have played such an ugly trick on them, but they have many theories to advance as to the motive behind the act.

One theory is that the work was done by somebody who wanted to injure their trade; another that it was the work of some discharged employe, who took that means of getting even for imaginary injuries, and still another that it was the prank of a lot of boys, who did it just for fun.

The police have been notified of the ocurence, and if the offender is caught, whoever he or she may be, a lively prosecution will follow.

John Drew in a Clever Comedy.

John Drew's new play, or rather Sidney Grundy's new play, "A Marriage of Convenience," presented at the Century last evening, is just the sort of play Mr. Drew himself delights in and in which his audiences find him charming. It was spoken of in advance as a "comedy of manners," presumably the manners of the Louis XV. period when men wore satins and red heels and the women were beautiful in white wigs and short waisted gowns, but the playwright demonstrates that the manners of present day society have altered none from that time. Marriages of convenience are quite as frequent in this generation as they were 150 years ago, and if the truth were but known there is many a household to-day in which practically the same situation is to be found. Monsieur may not be a Comte and his mistress may not be a Marquise, but his heart just the same does not dwell under the same roof with his wife.

However, it must not be understood that "A Marriage of Convenience" has a social problem to treat of, or, in being an adaptation from a French comedy—"Un Marriage Sous Louis XV.," by Alexander Dumas—that it deals in frankness with risque subjects. Nothing of the sort. The charm of this play is in its simplicity. There are no questions of morals to decide, there is nothing sufficiently plain spoken or even hinted at to offend the politest ears, and the plot is so direct and straightaway that a blind man in the top gallery would know all about what was going on if his hearing was fairly good. There are no "situations" in "A Marriage of Convenience." The audience is held for two hours and a half by dialogue that is witty at times, polished throughout, amusing here and there, and at no point dull.

What takes two hours and a half to be told on the stage may be told here in almost as many lines. The Comte de Condale marries his cousin to please their rich old uncle. The Comte loves a marquise and the Comtesse loves a chevalier. They confess to each other and there are no scenes about the matter. The apparent indifference of each makes the other jealous, and within three days they commit the unheard-of solecism of the times of falling in love with each other. Farewell, marquise; adieu, chevalier.

The part of the Comte de Condale is better fitted to Mr. Drew than that of Sir Jasper Thorndyke in "Rosemary," which was the best character he has given us since he became a star. The powdered wig, satin breeches, sword and "three-cornered hat and all that" become him. He is graceful in movements and interprets with consummate art a character which is a strange mixture of tenderness and man-of-the-world cynicism. His entire performance was a charming picture of the French gentleman of 150 years ago.

The same can hardly be said of Mr. Byron, who played the Chevalier. He looked well enough and he read his lines intelligently, but he did not seem to grasp the spirit of the character as Dumas originally wrote it and as Mr. Grundy evidently meant it to be played. He seemed "dressed up" in court clothes, and as if he feared his sword might trip him at any moment. But he must be given credit for a really excellent bit of acting, that at his final exit. The Chevalier then shows unmistakable symptoms of a line of noble ancestors, and Mr. Byron was equal to the emergency.

Miss Isabel Irving as the Comtesse, a girl just from the convent to whom a husband is as much a property, and no more, of woman's estate as her first long skirts, played the part with taste and a thorough appreciation of the comedy it contained. Her beauty, a fragile type that can be compared with that of no other actress just now in mind, is rarely suited to Watteau gowns and white wigs.

The old General acted by Mr. Harkins was carefully done, and Miss May Buckley was excellent as a vivacious maid.

Another one of those Century-full-dress-Monday-night audiences greeted Mr. Drew. The house was almost as much a picture of fashionable and mannerly society as, that on the other side of the footlights.

A Soldier Totally Disabled by Chronic Nervousness and Constipation.

Restored By
Dr. Miles' Nervine.

The tremendous strain of a soldier's life upon the nervous organism is enough to break down the health of an ordinary man in a few years; but for the soldier whose health is already impaired by sickness or disease of any kind, the future holds out a scanty hope unless he build up and strengthen his nervous system.

When the nerves are strong the heart is strong, the lungs are strong and the brain is strong. The liver and kidneys cleanse the blood of its impurities, while the stomach and digestive organism transform the food into new, rich, red blood, full of health and strength and life. Dr. Miles' Nervine is the greatest nerve food and tonic ever offered to a suffering people. It soothes the irritated, strengthens the weak and brings sweet rest and sleep to the wornout and exhausted.

It is not necessary to be a soldier to appreciate the good qualities of Dr. Miles' Nervine. All sufferers from weak or tired nerves will find in it a help and strength in the time of need.

Mr. James Teehan is a soldier. He belongs to Co. F, 17th Inft., U. S. Army, and is stationed at Columbus, O. Mr. Teehan writes: "I suffered for several years with chronic constipation, and after I enlisted in the army my trouble became worse. I took nearly every advertised remedy in the market, but everything I tried seemed to go against me, until finally my bowels were in a very bad c[illegible]. My [illegible] became [illegible] and my nerves were completely unstrung. It was impossible for me to rest or sleep and I was on the verge of despair when I was granted a furlough and visited my sister in Chicago. She advised me to take a course of Dr. Miles' Restorative Remedies, which had rid her of a complication of diseases. I took her advice and commenced taking Restorative Nervine and Nerve and Liver Pills. These remedies worked the most marvelous results that could be imagined and in a few weeks I was able to return to my company. That was three years ago, and my health has continued to improve until now I am well enough and strong enough for any service where duty calls."

Dr. Miles' Remedies are for sale by all druggists. Book on heart and nerves sent free. Address,
